What exactly is Student Life? What does it mean? Who invented it? And why do they put it in the yearbook every year? If you're not sure of the answers to these questions, relax–it's really quite simple.

Student Life is what a student experiences every day of his life until he or she graduates or dies trying. Student Life can mean fun, laughter, tragedy, crying and even romance.

Nobody's really sure who came up with the name and the section "Student Life"–probably some poor yearbook student who had no idea where to stick the oddball pictures that were leftover from other sections. And did you notice how the Student Life seciton is always at the beginning of the book? Why? Who knows–I guess it's one of those unexplained traditions, like kissing strangers underneath dead foilage at Christmas.

Nevertheless, it has come to be an expected and enjoyable part of the book. Although the World Events pages may seen a little corny and you may not really care how many pairs of shoes Imelda Marcos has now–in ten years you'll open the book and in reading this section "travel back in time" to you wonderful high school years.

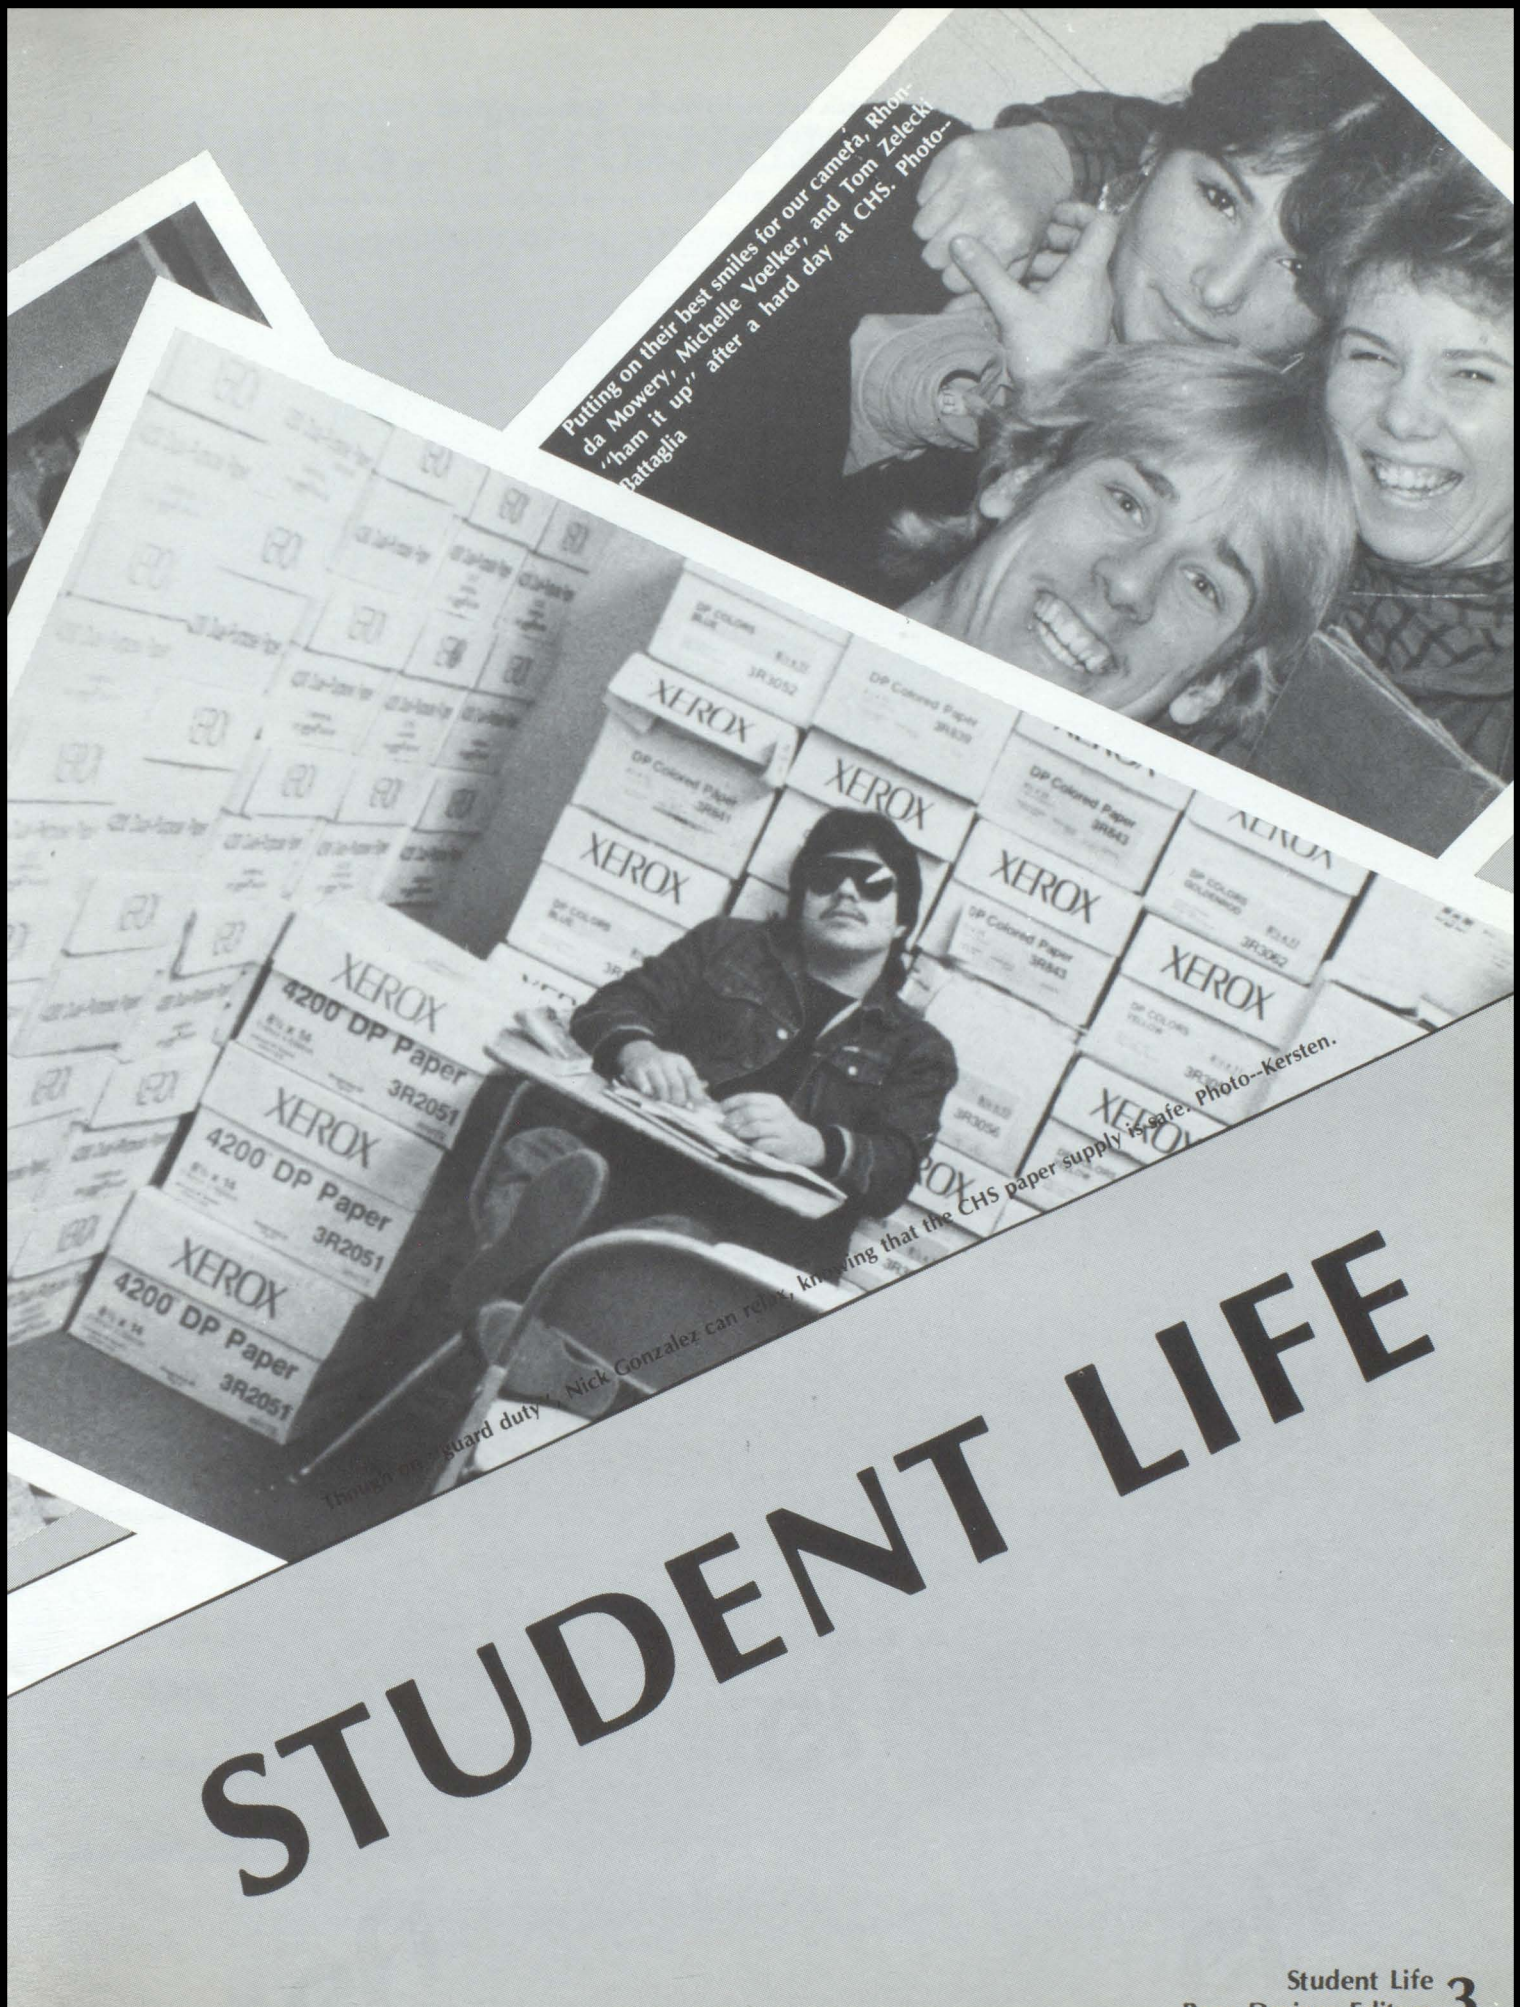

"Yeah, sure," you're probably saying, but believe it or not it's true--trust me, have I ever lied to you?!? –Jason Gallourakis

The Inside Story on Homecoming

Although the 1986 Homecoming game was somewhat of a disappointment, the excitement and celebration of Spirit Week kept everyone in a cheery mood.

On Monday, Crazy Hat-n-Hair Day, colored hair spray, mousses, gels, and outrageous hats were the attire. Tuesday you saw rosy cheeks and freckles for Kiddie Day. Wednesday was Inside - Out Day and shirts, pants, even shoes showed their tags and sizes.

Even though Thursday was rainy, students were having a luau inside for Hawaiian Day. Friday was Blue and Gold Day and the seniors pulled out their second victory over the juniors.

The senior's persistence to win the Spirit Jug became evident when they placed first in the float competition, and accepted the prized jug at halftime. The other senior highlight during halftime festivities was the crowning of Matt Kaluk and Chris Kersten as Homecoming King and Queen.

"Game Shows" was the float theme this year, and it pulled the seniors into a first place victory with their version of "Wheel of Misfortune". The juniors captured second with "Press Your Luck". Sophomores played "Football Feud", the freshmen game was "Tic-Tac Touchdown", and the eighth grade created "Scrabble".

That evening, CHS students topped the week off by dancing to the music of Elektra Sound.

They've Got Their Act Together

From portraying their favorite hit singer or group on stage to answering questions in the Quiz Bowl, CHS students certainly have their act together.

Strutting their stuff with sunglasses and chains were singers Eddie Rodriguez and Frank Giglio, who expressed "What People do for Money" in the second annual "Strut Your Stuff" dance, sponsored by the yearbook and Chieftain staffs. Johnna Pelt, with her version of "Control" by Janet Jackson, was awarded second place; Kari Smith and Joan Jackson stepped forward to accept third place. Along with these people were many other contestants who made "Strut Your Stuff" another great success.

Up on stage in this year's talent show were many students displaying a variety of special abilities. Whether it was playing a part in a skit, singing, or playing an instrument, CHS students had their acts together.

Answering questions in the areas of history, art, religion, and the mass media, Quiz Bowl participants compete with area teams who winners are awarded with trophies or plaques.

Some of us will go to college, some of us will get a job, and the rest of us will just "hang out", but every member of the Class of 1987 will change their lifestyle in the months and years to come.

Senior year of high school is full of important decisions and events we will remember forever...Homecoming, the trip, graduation festivities, and more.

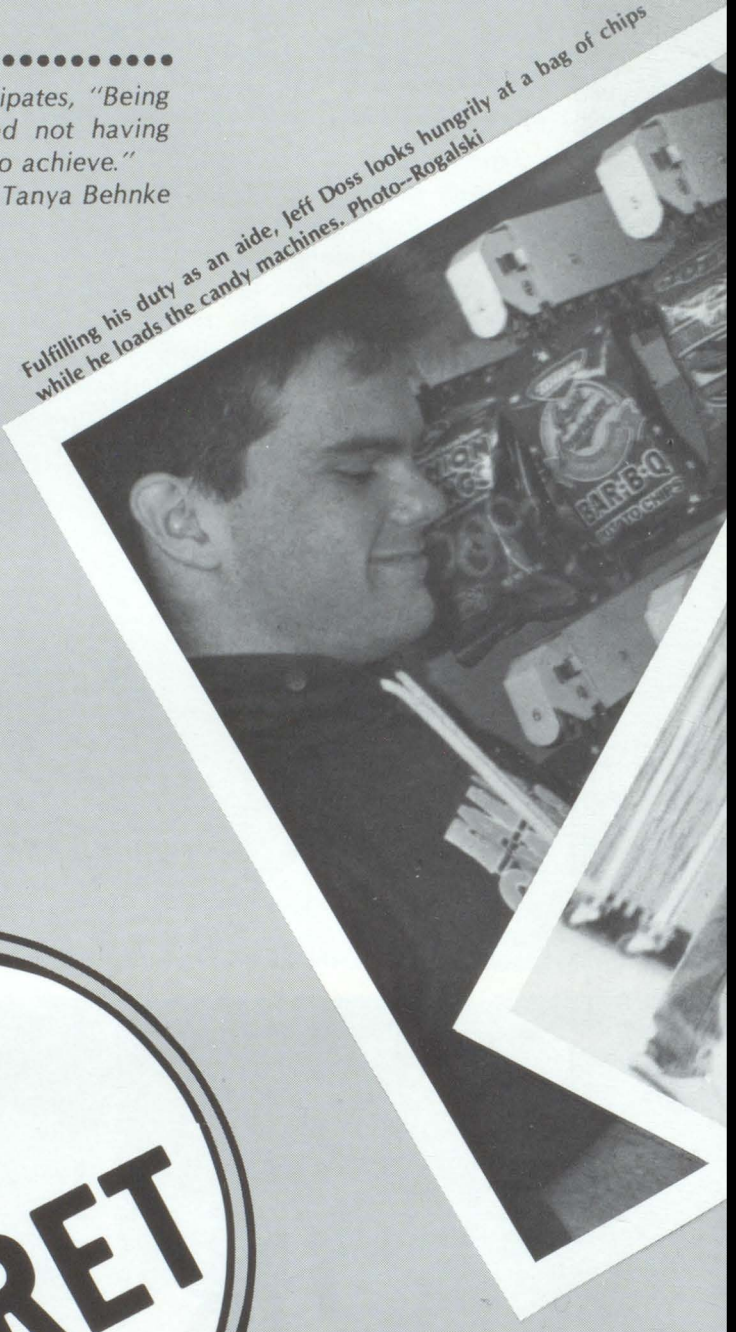

Choosing a college and deciding on a career are hard choices we must make to plan our future. A few seniors predicted what they thought would be the biggest change they would experience during their first year out of high school.

Tom Zelecki feels, "My lifestyle will change. I'll be going to school and then work."

"Moving away from the securities of home and being away from my friends," predicts Wendy Rogalski of the difficulties she'll face.

Frank Giglio anticipates, "Being out on my own and not having anyone to push me to achieve."

The Class of 1987 -- Breaking Tradition

As we finish our last year as a class at Capac High School, one can't help thinking back on what we've been through together

As freshmen we were exposed to new classes and older people, and we adapted well to the "mature" environment.

Tenth grade saw us cheering as we captured first place for what everyone knew was the best float at Homecoming.

Eleventh grade followed us through a hectic year but paid-off with a fantastic prom.

Our senior year brought many of the best memories of all, including a spirit jug win, and a great senior trip.

Through our past four years at CHS, breaking tradition and sometimes even the rules, we've earned our place in the sun, a place that won't soon be forgotten.

Good-bye and good luck to all.

Rivalry Comes Alive

Homecoming 1986 can be summed up in just three words –seniors vs. juniors. The race was by far the closest and most controversial in many years.

Spirit Week started out slowly for the seniors, but as usual we ended with a bang! Our first win came on Thursday as almost the entire twelfth grade decided to "Go Hawaiian" and end the juniors' string of first-place finishes.

Friday was a repeat performance when the seniors showed the most school pride by dressing in blue and gold.

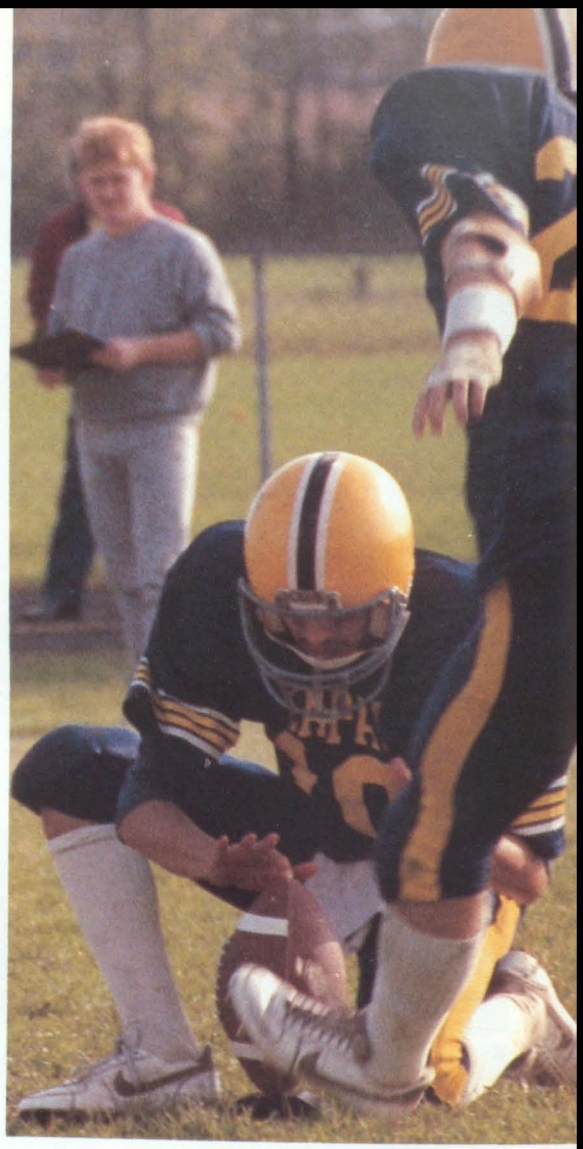

Junior-senior rivalry came on strong as the pep assembly games started. Accusations filled the air every time one class came out on top. As a consequence, the Class of '87 lost points when contests were replayed and placing changed.

Seniors still earned first-place finishes in the cottonball-on-a-spoon race and the egg toss, and finally, the seniors used their voice-power to win the yelling contest.

Due to a revised float-judging system, the senior class earned back its lost points when they won first place with "Wheel of Misfortune" as their float's theme.

This clinched the Spirit Jug for the seniors and it was awarded to class president Jason Gallourakis during the half-time excitment.

From Football Fields to Florida

Just the Beginning

Homecoming is an exciting time for all students, especially the seniors. It's the time of year when the Senior Class pulls together for their last chance at the coveted Spirit Jug.

This spirit of working together helped the seniors with some of the many decisions they had to make this year. Besides the individual career/college choices seniors make, there were many class decisions.

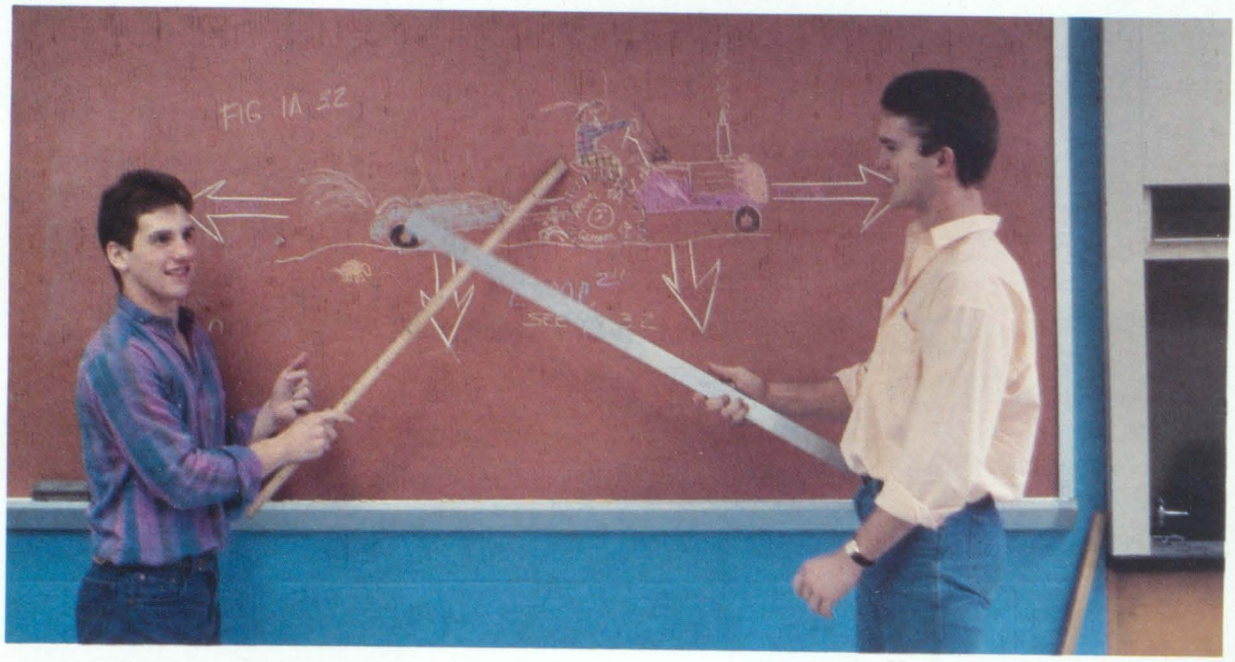

The class song, motto, flower, and colors were among these first choices. Although not as life—affecting as a career decision, seniors feel quite strongly that each symbol be a true representation of their class personality and history.

The most entertaining choice of the year was the senior trip destination——an exciting and adventurous week in Florida.

What a Year!

As one of the best years for any previous class, everyone in the Class of 1987 can be proud of their senior year.

Although the year started out with some "less—than—happy" seniors——those involved in the infamous "Great Graffiti Scandal"——things soon got back to normal and were on our way to a great Homecoming.

Once that frenzied and senior—dominated week was over, we started planning our senior trip, which gave seniors a chance to wiggle their toes in the hot sands of Orlando, Florida.

Fittings for caps and gowns, the ordering of announcements, senior pictures, college information and applications, term papers, and countless other "Senior Things" kept us extremely busy all year, and the pace didn't slow down after the school day ended.

Many "working seniors" had to squeeze a job into all of this——not an easy task.

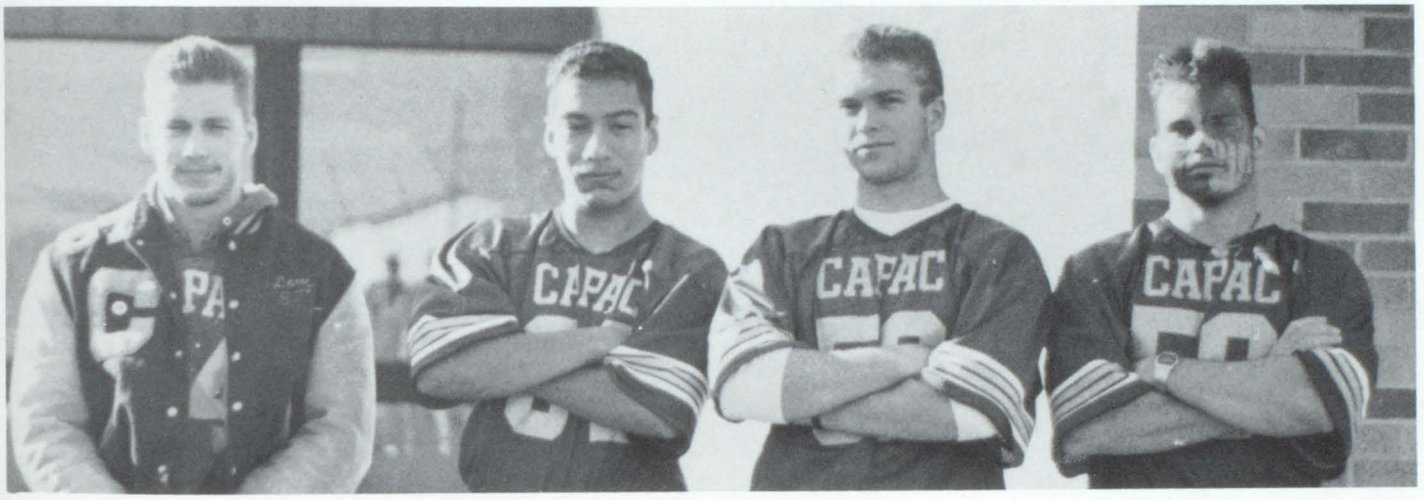

Those preferring to take it easy after 2:45 p.m. and on weekends went to the mall, concerts, movies, parties, and is there anyone who didn't "cruise town"?

When our twentieth class reunion comes up——we'll have to pull this ol' yearbook out to remember a lot of this, but we each have our own favorite memories that will never fade.

Different? Original? STRANGE?!? Are these the words that describe this year's wild and crazy undergrads? In the immortal words of Balki Bartokamous, "Of course not. Don't be ridiculous!"

If you were born between the dates of 1970 and 1973 and live within the Capac school district– chances are you're at CHS trying to drive the seniors nuts!

But don't think you're going to get away with it...we've got all the "behind the scenes" information on each and every one of you, and we won't stop until all of you serve your punishment – grading the student parking lot with a butter knife!

For those undergrads who are "just peachy" –both of you– your reward is to serve on the yearbook staff until you graduate. If that doesn't corrupt you, nothing will!

Juniors . . . Challenges Tackled

The 1986-87 Junior Class was faced with many challenges this year: Homecoming, SAT & ACT tests, and the prom.

Giving the seniors a close race for the Spirit Jug, the juniors held a strong first until Saturday, in which the judging of their float brought them into honorable second place.

Many juniors were faced with taking ACT and SAT tests, which are required by most colleges before entering.

Choosing an "all new" place to hold this year's prom, the Club Monte Carlo in Utica, proved that this class can pull together and get important jobs done.

These and many other challenges were tackled, showing that the Junior Class is ready to take on the next step.....Senior Year!

Students Prepare for Future

Your junior year is a busy one as you prepare for your future life outside the hallowed halls of Capac High.

In your junior year you have to start thinking of what you want to do with the rest of your life. Career planning becomes extremely important. The three most popular careers chosen by Capac students seem to be engineering, business, and education.

According to Mrs. Manning, "A college-bound student should have at least four years of English and it would help if you had two years of foreign language." Remember, you must have 22 credits to graduate. This has been changed from previous years when only 21 credits were required.

This year's juniors did extremely well on the PSAT. Eleventh graders planning on going to college also took the ACT this year.

Those students who do not plan on going to college should gear classes towards their interests and career choices.

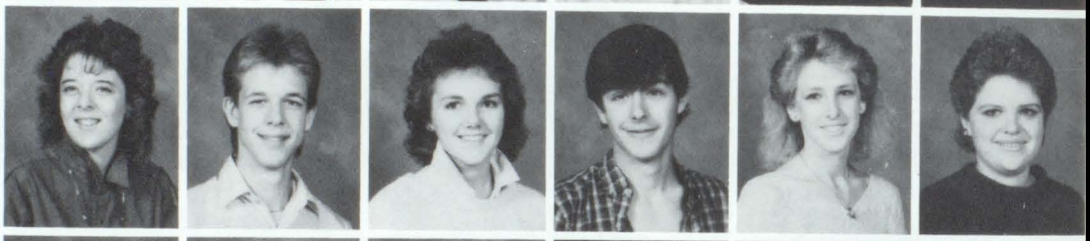

As you can see the life of a high school student is not all parties and fun. It requires time and planning so you can make the right decisions that will affect the rest of your life.

To Work or not to Work

That is the Question

Homecoming, the prom, cars, dates, and trips to McDonald's. This was the year that many juniors felt the financial pinch.

The answer? Jobs.

More than 60% of juniors earn paychecks to help with these responsibilities. As a result, these hardworking students feel the squeeze when it comes to juggling a job and school.

Junior Denise Gill stated that working at McDonald's is a good experience, but it leaves little time for doing homework and studying, so she finds herself staying up late at night

Many juniors find themselves in the same boat, yet in the long run consider it worthwhile.

Juniors on the Light Side

Most people know that high school can be pretty difficult, especially your junior year. Still, although many juniors have hectic academic and exri curricular schedules, they all find time to relax and have fun.

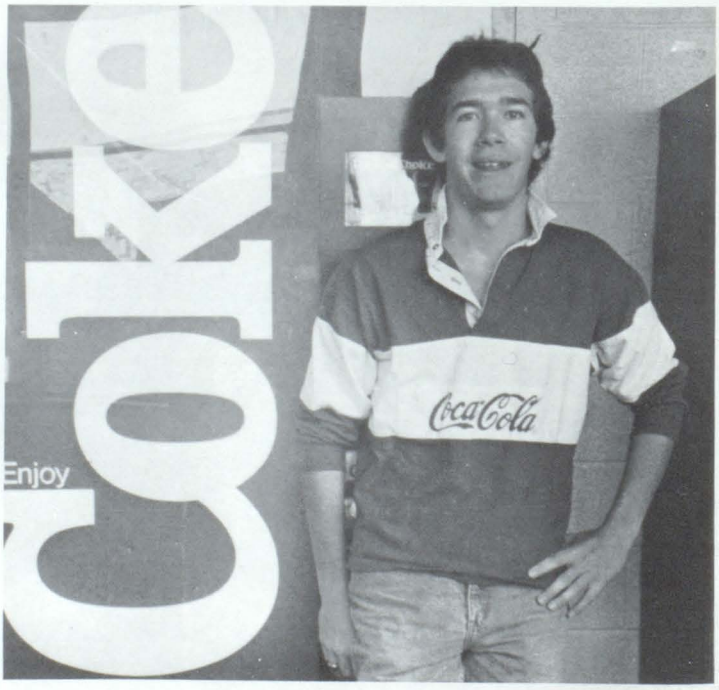

Many people from the Class of 1988 enjoy dancing. Juniors are never hard to find at high school dances. Many students are also avid sports fans as well as players, so at high school athletic events bleachers are usually packed with junior fans.

The Class of '88 is always full of spirit and bands together at Homecoming time to give their best shot at winning the Spirit Jug.

Relationships have grown very strong over the years in the Class of '88. Denise Miller and Tom Reichert are the perfect example. They admit their favorite thing to do outside of school is be together.

There are many other special relationships in the class as well and as the juniors move on and leave CHS, the bonds and memories will be cherished forever.

Sophomores Face Big Changes

This year's sophomore class is the first affected by some changes in CHS academic graduation requirements. Two types of diplomas or a certificate of attendance are within the reach of students.

Tenth graders now are required to take the Michigan Education Assessment Program competency test in order to graduate from Capac High. Students must pass this test with a 75% or better, and complete the required credits to receive a diploma.

Grade point averages will be a factor in the type of diploma awarded. Students who attain a 3.00 or better and meet graduation requirements will receive an "academic" diploma. Students with a 1.75 to a 2.99 will receive a regular diploma. All others who receive a 1.74 or below will receive a certificate of attendance.

Student Files Tell All

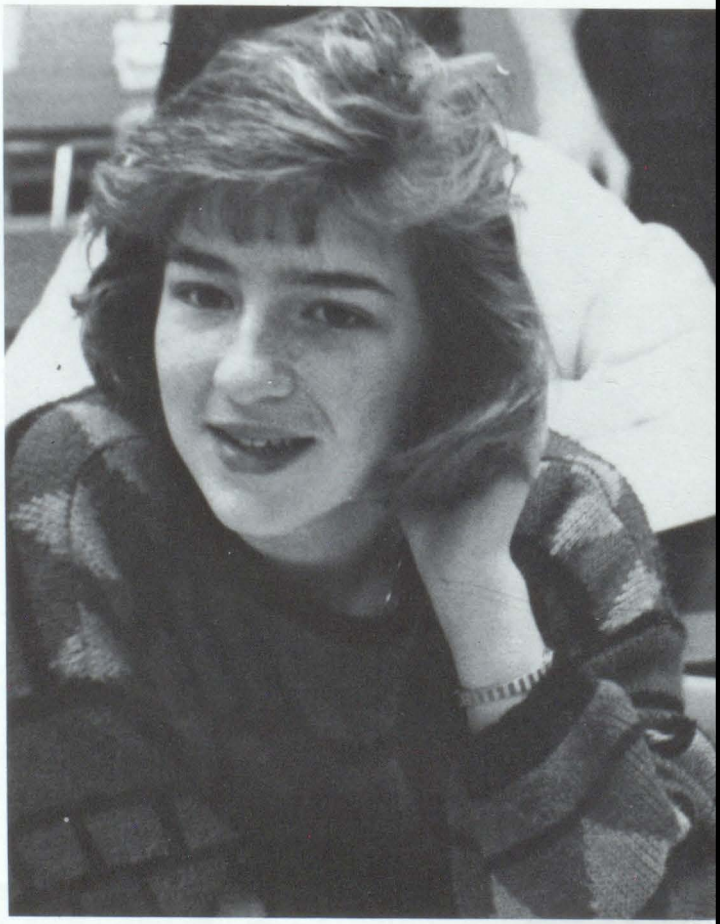

Student files show interesting facts and statistics about the Sophomore Class of 1989.

This year's sophomores total 110 students. Of that number, the month of November appears as the month of the "baby boom" when most sophomores were born. For your parents, the baby boom meant choosing names, including middle names that you would rather forget. Perhaps they were honoring your great grandmother or grandfather, or your mother's favorite aunt. Is that right Kelly Mary Jo Parks and Thomas Harry Sanders?

"Anything that's fun," was Ryan Kaufman's answer to his hobbies out of school. The popular responses of others included 3-wheeling, waterskiing, hunting, reading, computers, and of course, going to parties.

Football, basketball, and track were on top as the three sports in which sophomores were most active in.

Two Down, Two To Go

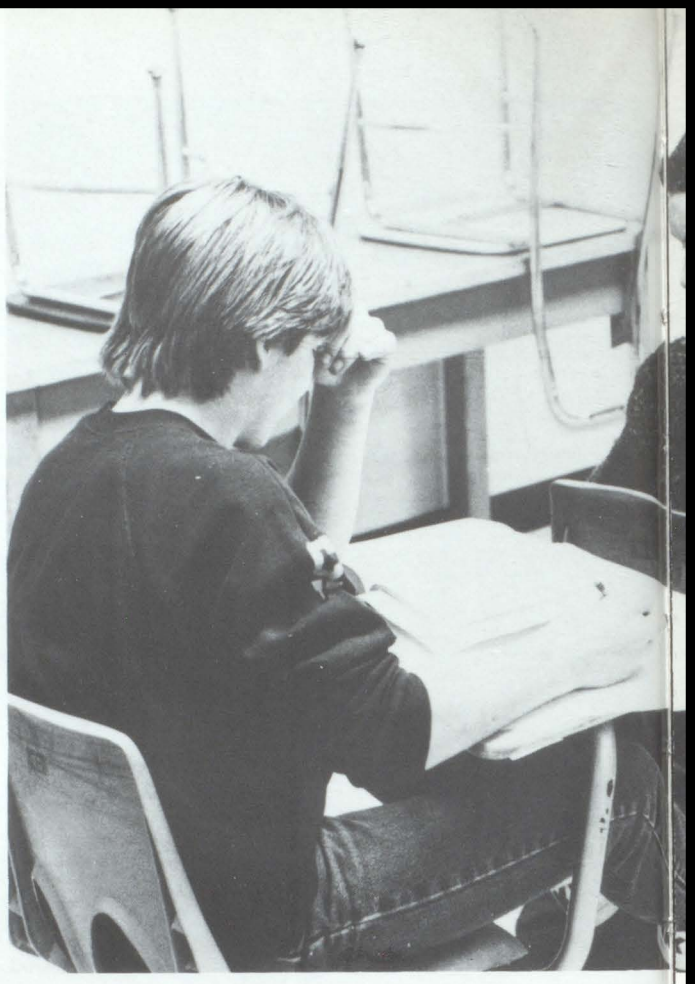

All sophomores can breath a deep sigh of relief as we look ahead to only two more years of school until graduation.

Looking ahead also means looking forward to sponsoring next year's junior-senior prom, a tradition at Capac. We won't go into the project without some experience--we organized a dance this year in January. We made over two hundred dollars and this success will help cover the cost of next year's big event.

The hardworking Sophomore Class officers included President Stephanie Peck, Vice-President Brian Palmateer, Treasurer Jeff Klug, and Secretary Wendy Hunter. Brian stated it was a pretty good year to feel more responsible and mature.

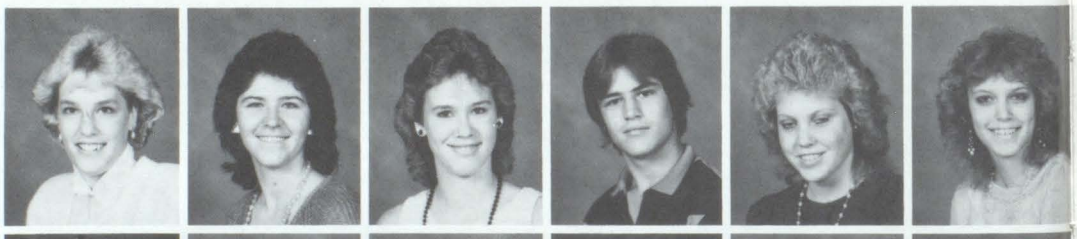

Ryan Kaufman and Stephanie Peck reigned as sophomore prince and princess during Homecoming activities. The sophomores gave it their all and took third place in the race to win the spirit jug.

Class of 1990 Starts Fresh

The Class of 1990 took a giant step toward their future this year. This was the first year of their high school career, the year to start worrying about grades, exams, and which college to attend.

Most freshmen adjusted very well to high school life, excelling in academic classes such as Intro to Physics, computer classes, and Algebra I and II.

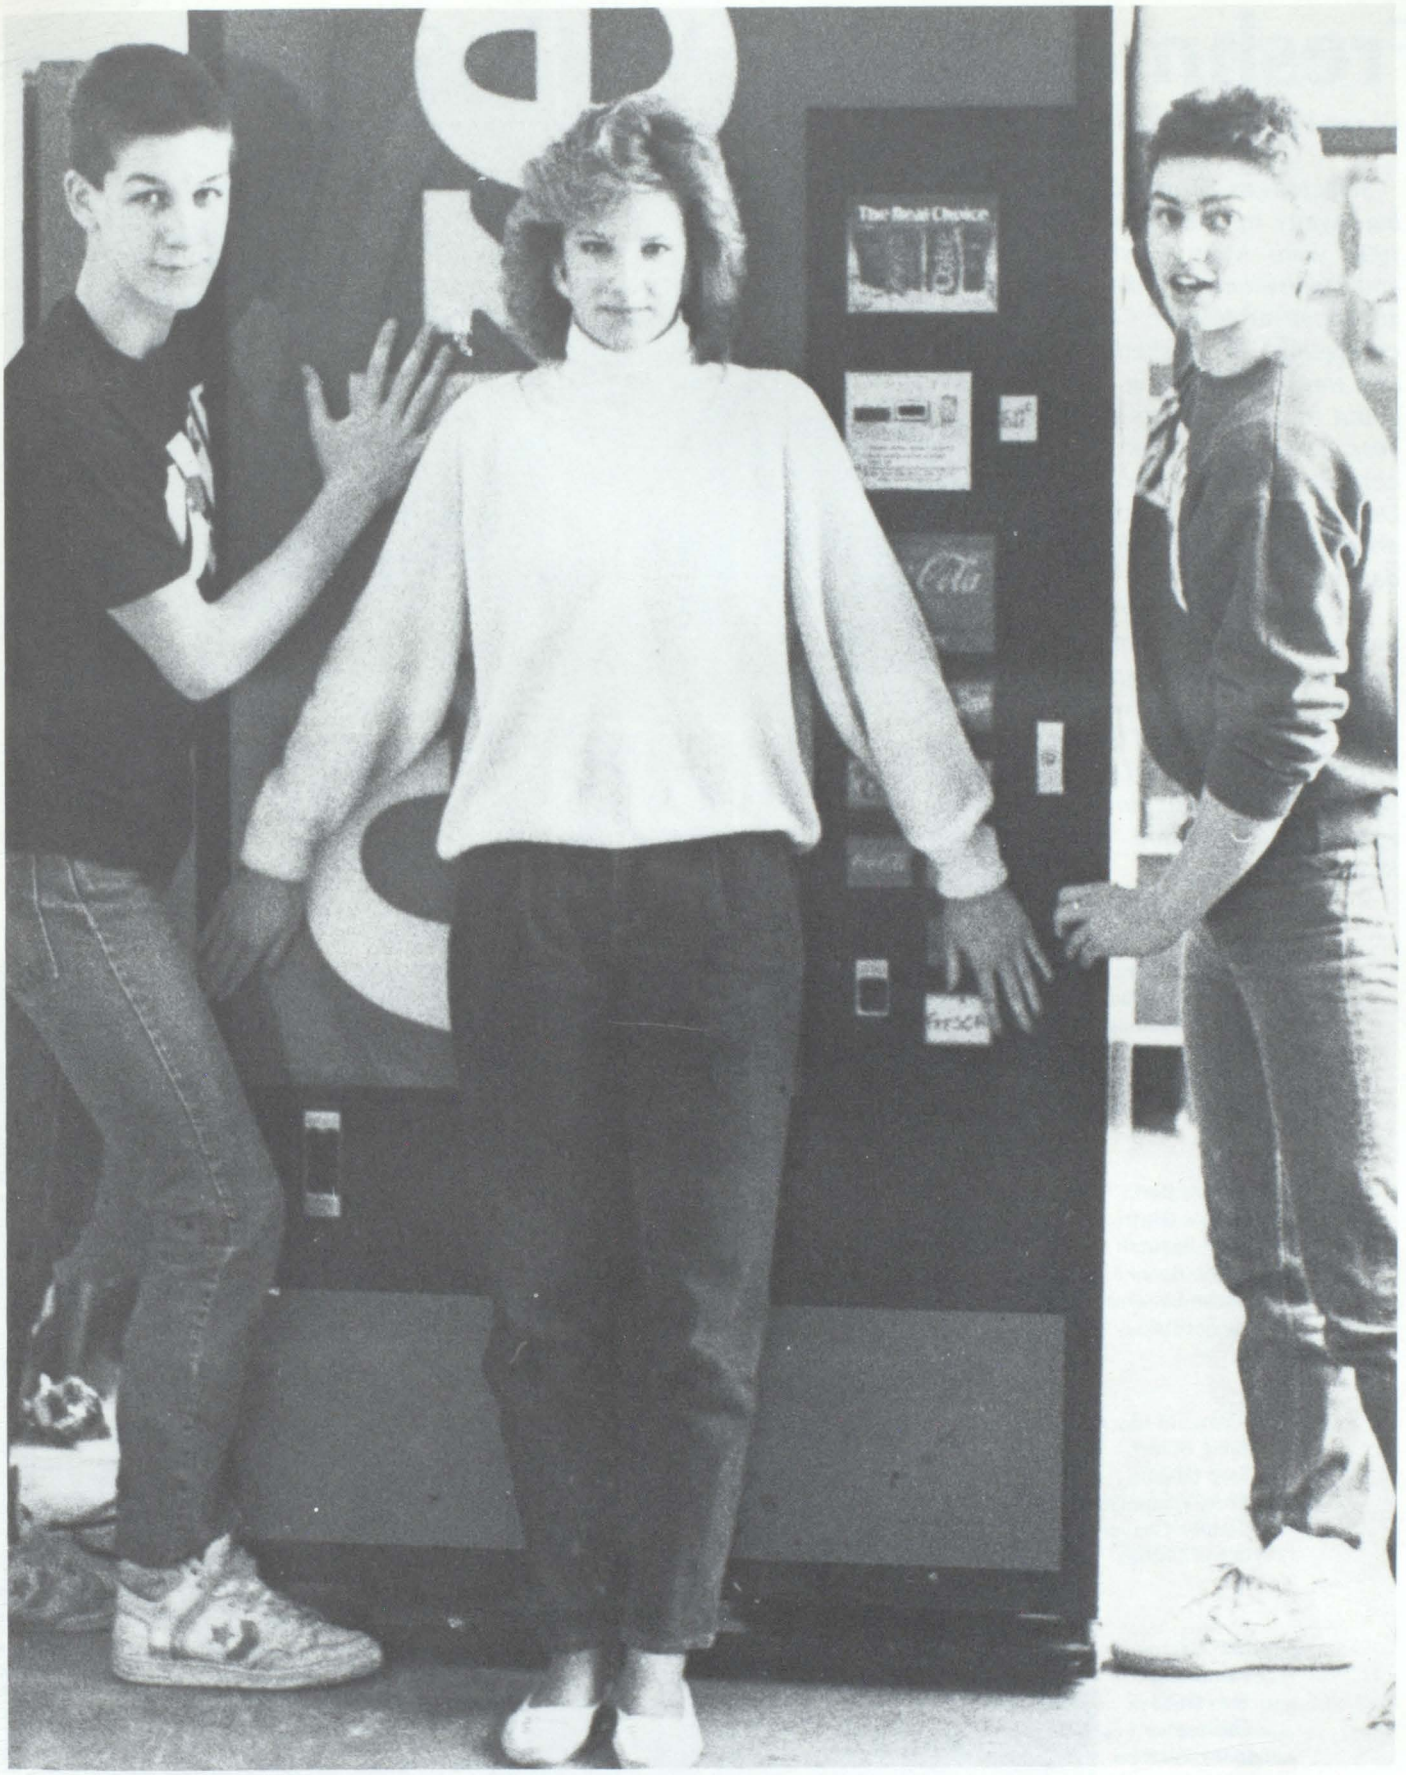

Many also excelled in sports, such as Dawn and Jennifer Adams, and Mike Rawlins, who were all varsity cross country members. Bernie Kersten was the only freshmen on the J.V. basketball team, while Mike Hofert and Steve Sly rounded out the golf team.

Selected to lead the freshmen class were James Hayes, President; Melanie McNutt, Vice-President; Denise Felek, Secretary; and Robert Kaminski, Treasurer.

Freshmen Shine With Spirit

Selected as Homecoming royalty for the Class of 1990 were Mike Rawlins and Denise Felek. Mike is an active athlete at CHS, competing in basketball and track and making his debut in cross country this year. Selected for her second royal year as princess, Denise is a very active cheerleader and also likes dancing.

As Homecoming Week proceeded, the freshmen went all out to earn spirit points. Their efforts were well worthwhile as they captured third place overall. Their best finish, appropriately, came on Kiddie Day.

Future Scholars

Adjusting to high school wasn't difficult for most of the freshmen because they had either an older brother or sister to help them.

When we asked what they thought about their classes and being considered part of the high school, freshmen gave two answers. "It's hard at first but you learn to adapt," says Jessica Parlin. "It's not as hard as I thought it would be," adds Wally Houk.

We also found out that many boys in the class have at least one thing in common – they like all the older girls in the school. And, of course, there is also one other thing the freshmen class enjoys – the fact that they're no longer eighth graders.

Eighth Graders Mix and Mingle

Many unexpected instances occurred to the eighth graders this past year. Joe Hadacz was surprised with the good grades he received. Ricky Aguinaga expected lots of homework in his first year at CHS, but he didn't get very much. Either that, or he just didn't do his homework. Jennifer Sherwin was really excited because she was asked to the prom.

Nick Thomas and Betty Monarch responded very quickly when asked what they were most looking forward to. They replied, "Graduation!"

Joel Walker said that he disliked the work that was expected of him at the high school. Also Joel said that he liked the fries, and all of the older girls. Lisa Pfeifauf responded that she didn't like the school lunches.

The eighth grade class officers were Jenny Sherwin, President; Ricky Aguinaga, Vice-President; Grady Rhoney, Secretary; and Lisa Pfeifauf, Treasurer.

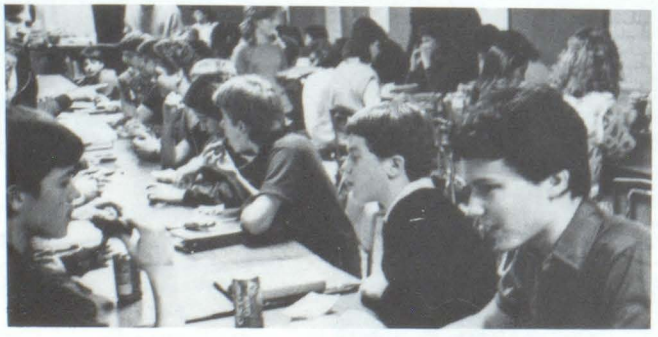

The Homecoming prince and princess for the eighth grade were Doug Hunter and Raquel Mallo. The eighth grade placed 4th in the float competition, and also 4th place overall, beating out the last place freshmen.

Swinging Into Action, 8th Graders Get New Start

Peer pressure is a hard thing to cope with, but it can be beaten by saying "No". Look around and you might see people drinking, smoking, or even doing drugs. Maybe you think it's ok to do these things, or maybe you say, "I'll try it once". It's really not that easy. You can get addicted to these things very easily–even before you know it.

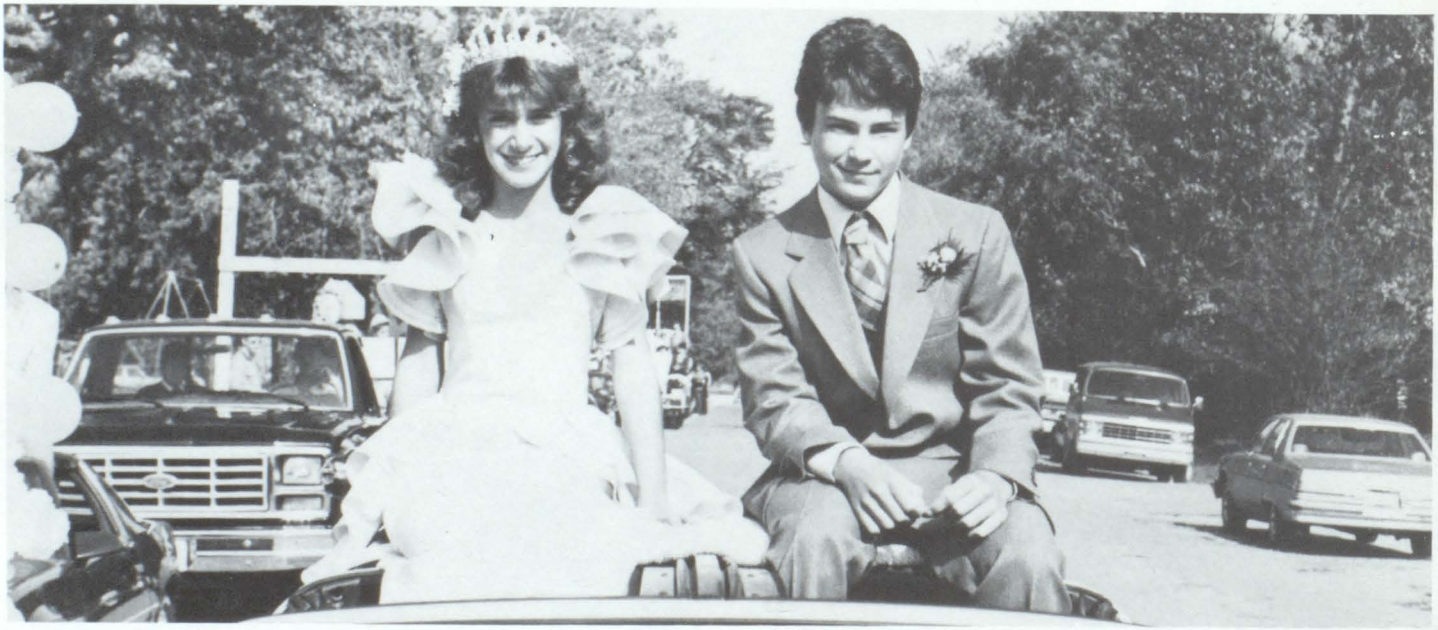

This year the eighth grade class held various assemblies on "How to say NO" to sex, drugs, alcohol, and tobacco. The speakers felt that by reaching the younger people, they could warn them of the after effects of these things.

It's ok to stand up for yourself. You may think you're not one of the "in" crowd because of it, but that's not true. The people who do these things are part of the "out" crowd. They're always "out" of it.

Looking into the Future

Imagine it's the year 2001 and the Class of 1991 is gathering for their 10 year reunion. Everyone is mingling in the Harry C. Moore gymnasium in the west wing of CHS, now a class A high school, and reminiscing about their years at Capac High.

The entertainment for this evening is the duo Cecilia Rodriguez and Sara Gonzalez, who after lip syncing at the 1986 "Strut Your Stuff" decided to start a group of their own called the "Two Amigos."

Sean Kriesch and Britt Owen have stayed in touch over the years, since they have followed in their parents' footsteps and have become teachers at New Haven High School.

Joel Walker inherited his mother's magic fingers and opened a chain of hair salons over the country called the "Back Door".

The announcement of the night was that Julie Kersten, after a long-time modeling career, has decided to settle down with her husband and agent, Doug Hunter, and have 17 kids of their own.

Three of the cheerleaders in eighth grade, Terri Malburg, Tricia Riegal, and Cheryl Worona, have taken their "Capac Spirit" to Texas and are three of the famous Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders.

In 1995, Nathan Malloy, Doug Rawlins, and Dan Siegal took over Enders Flowers and explanded it all over Michigan.

Toward the end of the evening, Jamie Walker flew in from Hollywood, where she was filming her third T.V. movie. Her first was in 1998, when she won the Madonna "look-a-like" contest and was discovered by old classmate and talent scout Steve White.

The evening ended with an energetic sing-a-long of the most popular song at CHS —"Capac High"— led by the "Two Amigos!"

Confidental Curriculum

Did you know that approximately thirty-five to forty-five percent of the graduating class each year goes on to attend college?

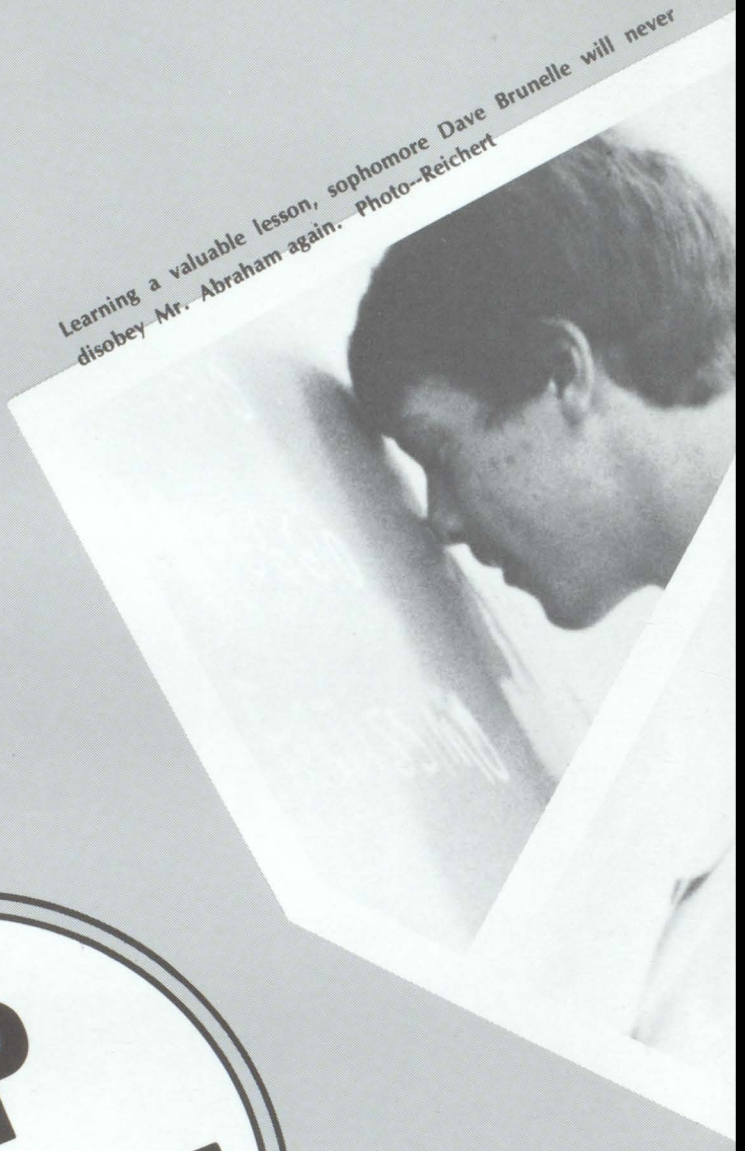

The academic world of Capac High School offers college preparatory classes for those students, such as Senior English, foreign languages, and advanced mathmatics.

For those who do not plan on continuinng their education, or who are undecided on which path they'll take, classes like typing, office practice, and accounting help prepare them for the working world. Students are also given the opportunity to attend the St. Clair County Skill Center to receive training for a particular field they plan to pursue.

Besides the required academic courses, CHS offers elective classes such as band, art, shop, and journalism in which students can explore their interests and talents.

The range of curriculum at Capac High School gives students the chance to learn in many areas.

A Stepping Stone to Future Accomplishments

Curiosity coupled with a desire to delve into the past and peer at the high school and college days of our teaching staff was the reason a questionnaire was given to each staff member.

Memories were lifted when twenty-one of our thirty teachers responded, filling us in on some details of their lives.

First, our teachers revealed their hometowns. Our teachers lived as far as Southbend, Indiana and anywhere in Michigan from Bloomfield Hills to Kalamazoo.

Next, we found facts about their high school days. Interestingly enough, one teacher was formerly a student at CHS and two others were valedictorians of their classes.

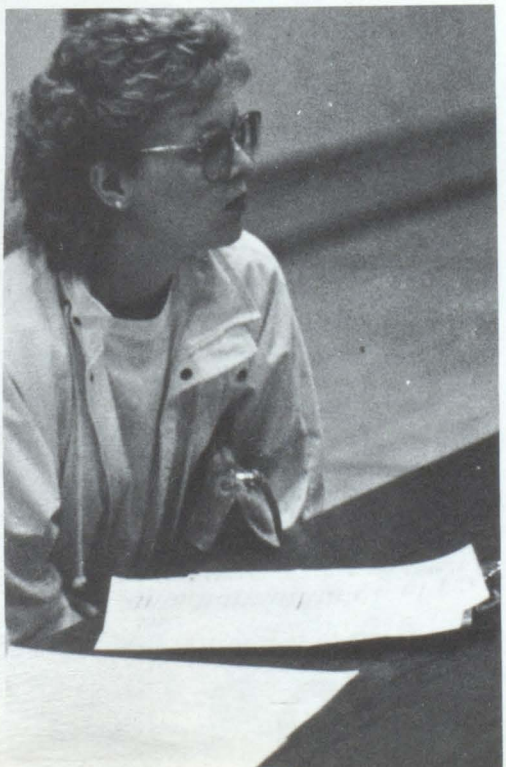

Green and white ranked highest (yes, Michigan State) as the one college attended by many of our teachers. University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan University were second in line.

Collectively, our teachers have 292 years of dedication and hard work spent at CHS.

Guidance and Support Behind the Scenes

The Board of Education, the bus drivers, the cooks and the kitchen help, and the janitors. These people are behind the scenes.

Just how important are these people? Do we need them? Can we live without them? Let's see...

Monday morning comes. You just stumble out of bed and get ready for school, or isn't there any school today? There's no Board of Education so there's no schedule – no school budget, no class schedule, no vacations!

Now you're all dressed. Ready to go. But you don't have the luxury of your own car to drive to school. What do you do now? There aren't any bus drivers. You'd better get Mom or start walking.

By some miracle you've made it to school. The fourth hour bell has just rung. It's lunch. You're hungry. Did you remember your sack lunch? Because there aren't any cooks. That means there aren't any cookies, or french fries, or ice cream, or...

Please don't make a mess! Or did you forget? There aren't any janitors. You have to clean up after yourself, just like at home.

Did I make my point? The people behind the scenes – the people we sometimes tend to forget – are the people we really need!

Dissecting Everything from Fractions to Frogs

How many phlanges are in your right foot? If you were taking Mrs. Penzien's Biology II class, you would know.*

What is the coefficient of friction on a 50 newton object sliding down a 30 degree incline? Physics instructor Mr. Hunt can teach you the three "easy" steps in solving this problem. Of course, if Ken Kincaid was the "sub", you might never find the answer!!

Calculus? No problem! Just consult Mary Alice Pilchak or the "Hof". If they are perplexed, there's always Mr. Montgomery!

What is the sum of all the angles of a square? Speaking of squares, Mr. Young is our infamous Geometry and Algebra I teacher. (Sorry, Mr. Young!)

One last question: Why do all of these people take such challenging classes anyway? Could they possibly want to be well-prepared for college? The answer to this one is easy – you bet, and after surviving these hurdles, they should be ready.

Joan Jackson

The Art of Speaking Revealed

Is it Shakespeare or is it Mrs. Montgomery? It's Mrs. Montgomery reciting Julius Caesar to her English 10 students.

After reading the Animal Farm in Mr. Abraham's English 9 class you may have the urge to write your own book, titled Everything You Need to Know about Communism!

But this urge will be satisfied in Mrs. Abruzzo's English 11 class when you write your personal autobiography.

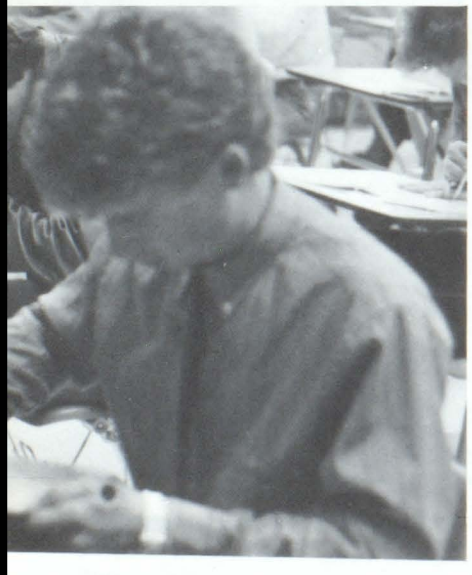

Bubble gum? What can I say about bubble gum? Students in Mrs. Montgomery's Speech and Drama class may face this quetion while preparing for an impromptu speech.

While some students are preparing for speeches, others are preparing for French or Spanish tests. Mrs. Manning always has a challenging oral section to complete.

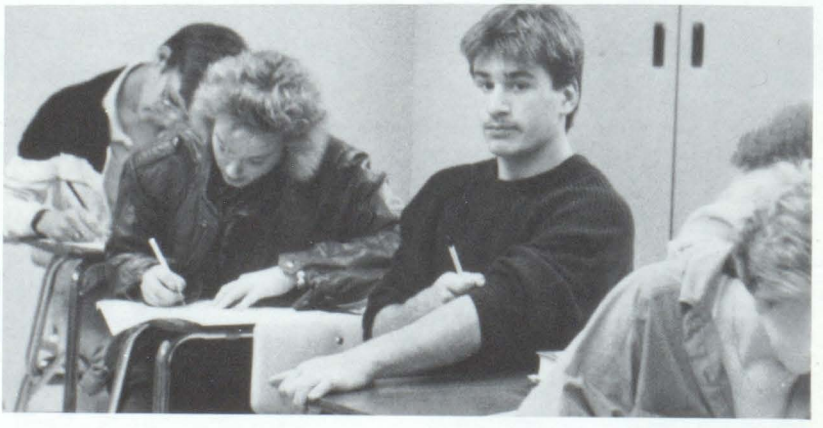

Last but not least, let us say a prayer for those unfortunate Senior English students who face "term paper deadlines!"

As The World Learns

Luminous events of the past, present, and future were discussed in many of the social studies classes this year. Students began to learn more about the world, its surroundings and how it works.

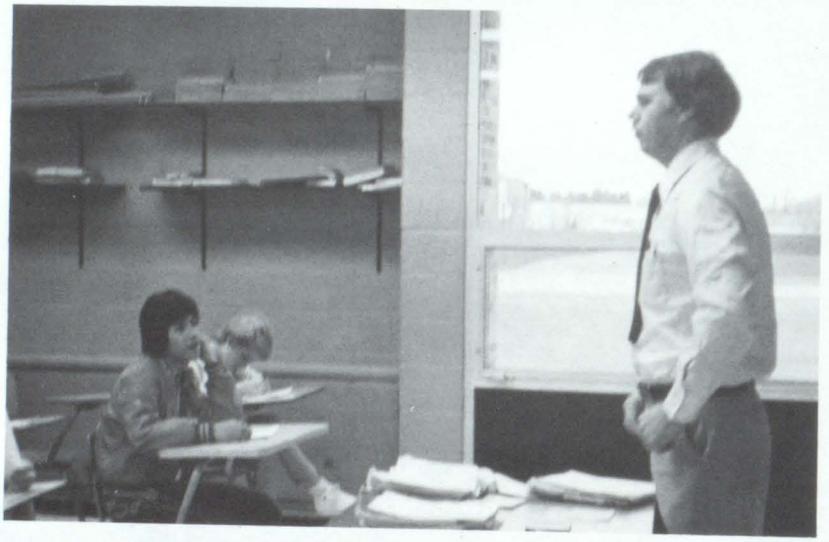

World History and American History are two of Mr. Marzka's favorite teaching areas. Sharon Smith, one of his American History students, comments, "It's definitely different. Some days I really enjoy it."

There is also another demanding teacher all students will face once their senior year rolls around, if not sooner. He is Mr. Stramaglio, famous for his lectures in Government, Economics, and American History. He expects students to listen to the news and be aware of what is going on in the world.

Mr. Ebner, a Civics, Michigan History, and World Affairs instructor, also enjoys his classes this year. He comments, "I enjoy working with the students very much." He teaches ninth and tenth grade students.

History, current events, world news–take your pick! Each of these subjects are taught in the eighth grade social studies classes, taught by Mr. Clark and Mr. Chapel, a newcomer to Capac High this year.

A New Age of Business

When a person used to think about the business department of our school, they thought about typing and Office Practice. This was true until about four years ago when computer classes were added to the curriculum. Classes such as Business Computers and Computer Math, which are taught by Mrs. Wallace and Mr. Montgomery, have become very popular among the students of Capac High School.

Besides the addition of computers, the business department has also been enhanced by the purchase of many electric typewriters. Approximately $10,000 has been invested over the years in computers and typewriters.

The upcoming freshmen classes will also get a taste of the technological advances of CHS as several new electric typewriters replace the manuals in Mr. Nickerson's classes.

Are They Electives or What?!?!

The 8:15 bell rings. The halls grow silent. Where did the students go?

Some are off to their required classes. Others are headed for their elective class.

We enter the 8th grade wing, encountering Mr. Keskimaki wearing his safety glasses. Glancing around his classroom exposes us to woodworking – the safe way.

We continue down the hall, getting a peek at Miss Miller's art class. She brings out her students' talents in a relaxed atmosphere.

Opening the next door, we find Mr. Watt, instructing his class in mechanical drawing, preparing them for the industrial world.

We turn into the central hallway, crossing paths with Miss Redding. When she isn't explaining news leads or yearbook spreads and F - stops, she's blowing her whistle at her advanced P.E. students.

Not far from the gym, we hear music floating out of the band room. Mr. Seidler teaches the band members the latest tunes in a secluded atmosphere.

We conclude our investigation of elective classes, having found that all of them require a lot of work. In the end they can be a rewarding experience.

Uncovering Junior High Achievers

Being in a new building and mingling with new friends is standard for students entering the eighth grade at CHS, but this year the eighth grade also gained two new rotation courses, Health and Computers, taught by two of three new 8th grade teachers.

In Health, Ms. Kristine Koski instructs students about good nutrition and procedures for medical emergencies. They also study drug abuse and perform related skits for their classmates.

Highlights of Mr. Joe Fuller's computer course include visiting the Capac State Savings Bank computer room, and looking at the "insides" of a computer. Ethical uses of technology and the consequences of misuse are also stressed.

The new health and computer rotation classes join the popular mechanical drawing and reading rotation courses to provide 8th graders with vital information and practice in areas they may choose to pursue in high school and beyond. The time spent sampling these areas is an important supplement to the basic math, social studies, science, and English curriculum.

The Secret Weapon

The focus of the sports world at Capac High School is usually on the number of wins and losses, and events such as the state championships by the girls cross country team and Greg Parker or the eighth grade girls basketball team's undefeated season.

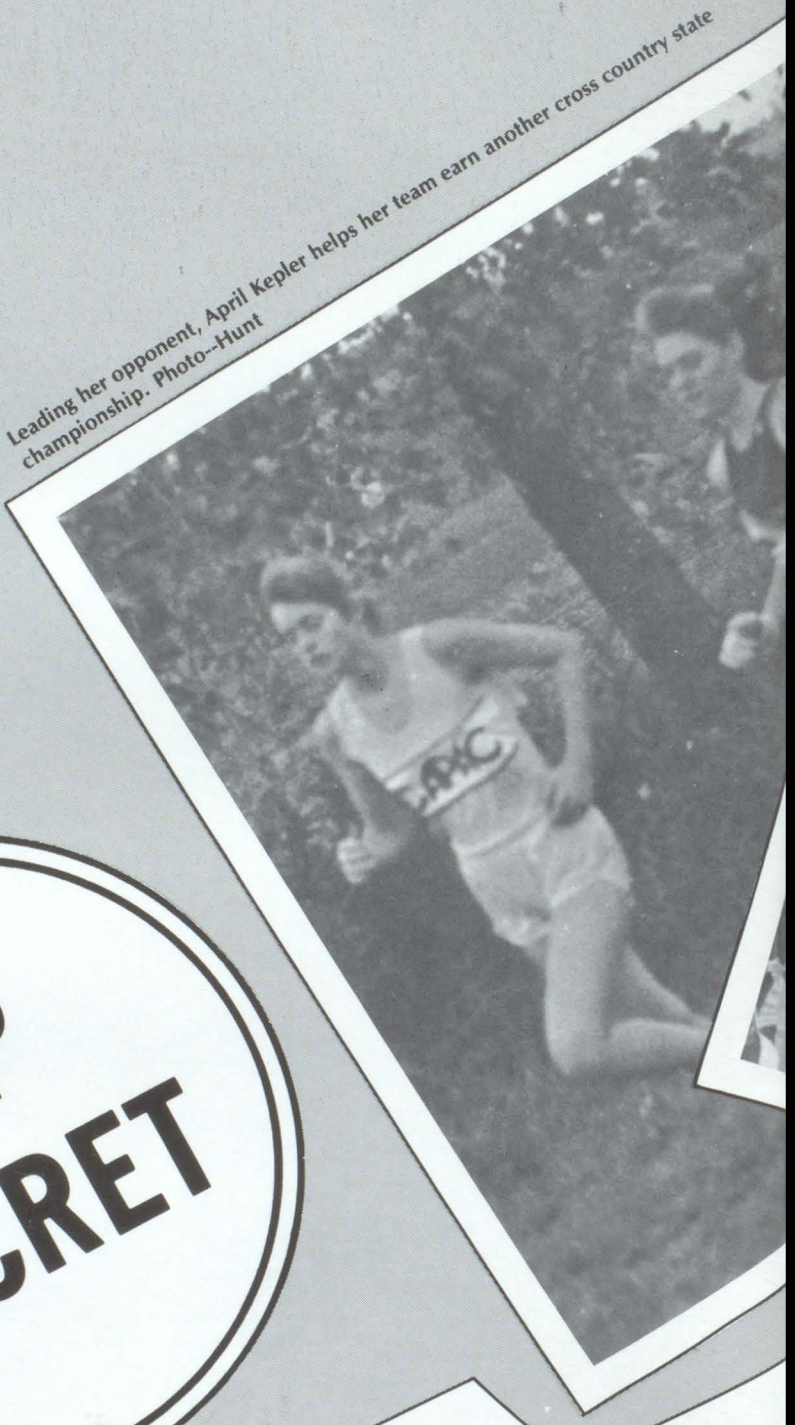

The additional happenings that seem to be grasping our attention this year are the number of coaching changes that have occurred.

Heading the way is Mr. Dean Clement as the new athletic director and assistant principal.

Cross country and varsity football lost their coaches as Mr. Hunt and Mr. Kamidoi both retired after many seasons

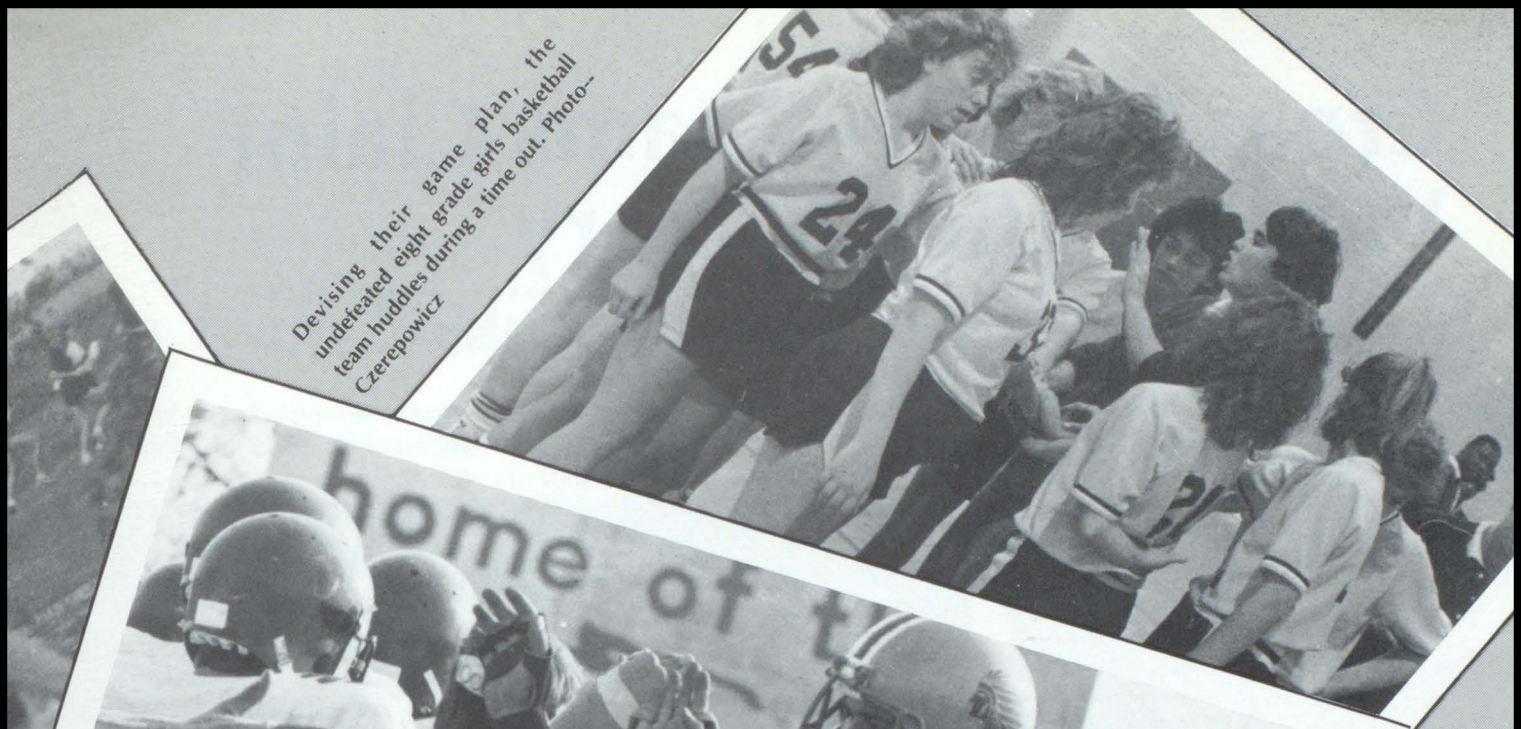

Winter sports also saw their share of changes as Miss Redding took over varsity volleyball, Mr. Craze became J.V. boys basketball coach, and Mr. Owen coached freshmen basketball.

Cross Country Teams Claim Victory After Victory

Coach Hunt Retires After 13 Successful Years

The 1986 girls cross country team is considered nothing but the best. The lady Chiefs captured their second state title by outdistancing Calvin Christian 115 - 156.

Senior Suzy Stansberry led the team for the fourth year in a row. Stansberry finished 5th at the state meet to earn her "all - state" honors. Freshman Angie Behnke was next on the line, finishing 17th. Competing behind her sister was senior Lisa Behnke, finishing 3rd.

Another fine senior, Elena Chavez, gave a strong run as she finished 34th. Sophomores Nancy Herman, Sharon Gott, and April Kepler rounded out the state championship team.

Juniors Kathy Kissane and Kathy Bartling, and freshmen Dawn and Jennifer Adams did not compete at the state meet, but they were a big part of the ladies' team throughout the season. Kisssane earned "most improved runner" for her fine dedication.

The 1986 boys cross country team also had an outstanding season. They captured their first regional championship, and placed 5th at the state meet, better than any previous boys cross country team.

Senior Greg Parker led the team as he won his third individual state championship. Greg also earned "all -state" honors, and "all - American" high school honors.

Following behind Parker was junior Jim Behnke, who also earned "all -state" honors by finishing 11th. Sophomore Joe Montney finished 49th, and junior Joe Rinke came in 67th.

Senior Eric Kot, junior Troy Cook, and freshman Mike Rawlins helped round out the rest of the team. Junior Troy Barth was also a contributor throughout the year.

Coach Hunt received "Coach of the Year" from the Michigan Interscholatic Track Coaches Association and "Coach of the Year" for the All - Blue Water Area.

Just a Swingin'

The 1986 golf season was a rebuilding year for the Chiefs, since they lost their top four golfers from last year.

Due to terrible fall weather, CHS golfers were only able to hold seven practices. Their season started slowly, losing their opener to Port Huron High on September 2, 312 to 164. Three days later they lost to Imlay City, but then picked up momentum and beat Almont. They took eighth place in the Belle River Tournament.

Overall, this relatively young team posted a record of eight and ten in the STA and three and three in the league.

Of the six golfers who completed in 1986, only senior Angel Snow will not be able to return to the next year's team. The experience gained this year by Jeff Klug, Paul Hannon, Jeff McCray, Mike Hofert, and Steve Sly indicates strong potential for the 1987 season.

Chiefs Upset by League Teams, Finish 4th

Going into the 1986 football season, the Chiefs were the favorite to win the S.T.A. They were, however, surprised by powerful Almont, Armada, and Brown City teams and had to settle for a fourth place finish in the league.

Although the team was unable to reach its championship goals for the season, several standout players were able to receive individual recognition.

Ron Kaufman was selected to the ALL - STA team as a first team defensive end and second team end. He was also chosen to the Blue Water Area team as tight end.

Ed Rodriguez was selected to the ALL - STA team for his fullback position, and was honored at the fall sports banquet as the team's most valuable player.

Ken Kincaid was selected to the ALL STA second team as a linebacker.

Perhaps the greatest surprise of the season came when Coach Kamidoi, Capac's most victorious football coach, resigned at the season's end.

JV and Jr. High Work Toward Varsity Level

The 1986 JV football season was a time of high hopes and hard work that never really paid off until their final game when they captured their first victory.

During the season, Coach Rosas commented, "Better days are yet to come," but he had to wait until that last game to see the change.

Ending their schedule on a victorious note adds to the coaches' anticipation of next year. With the success of this year's junior high squad, they hope the program will carry over to JV level.

The junior high team once again had a successful season despite the cold, wet weather. They nearly duplicated last year's impressive undefeated record.

The Wee Chiefs' only loss this season was in their final game, against Cros-Lex. A definite contributing factor was the loss of starting quarterback Grady Rhoney early in the game.

"We played very well, despite weather conditions, but we should have gone 5 and 0 for the season," said Coach Don Smith.

The Wee Chiefs don't compete in the STA, but are becoming a force among junior high teams.

Chief Spirit Shines Through Our Cheerleaders

Hard work and dedication paid off in the fall of 1986 for CHS varsity, JV, and jr. high cheerleaders.

In the summer, girls from both the JV and jr. high squads attended an International Cheerleaders Foundation camp. The girls won $500 for being the most improved squad at the camp. The money was used to purchase badly needed new uniforms for the jr. high team.

Early fall was busy with regular practices and games, and when Homecoming rolled around, the JV and varsity found themselves buried with responsibility.

They organized the pep assembly, learned a dance routine to perform on Homecoming day, and put on the annual dinner for varsity football players. This year the girls worked especially hard to make the dinner themselves instead of ordering it, as in past years.

The jr. high squad became more involved with halftime Homecoming festivities this year by learning and performing the dance routine to Capac High, along with the JV and varsity squads.

The cheerleaders added another special touch to Homecoming by sharing cheers with the Armada cheerleaders, symbolizing good sportsmanship.

Varsity girls finished the season on Halloween night and added a final touch by showing their ghoulish spirit and dressing up to cheer.

High Goals Not Reached

After the 2:45 bell has rung, most kids jump on the bus or in their cars and head for home. Not the girls varsity basketball team. They stand in the locker room getting ready for practice, wondering what new drills the "Drill King" has for them that day.

This year's team had five returning starters. Karen Malburg was the team leader, scoring the most points. Teammates Jamie Bollaert and Johnna Pelt were not far behind.

Johnna Pelt and Mary Ann Kaluk were the girls that made the rebounds for their team. Lynne Stramaglio, the fifth returning starter, helped out wherever she was needed.

The team began the season with very high goals, but, these proved out of reach as they lost to Brown City, Armada, and Yale.

"As a player, I feel the season would have been better if everyone would have learned to leave their personal differences in the locker room instead of bringing them onto the court," said Johnna Pelt, a three - year varsity player.

The girls had their last chance of the year to get even with Brown City at districts, but they failed to achieve this goal and lost the final game of the season.

JV and Jr. High Show Strength

The undefeated Capac Wee Chiefs had a superb season. They dominated the league from game one, crushing the Dryden Cardinals, 42-20.

The only team offering our Chiefs a challenge were the Imlay City Spartans. Once again the Chiefs came out and took control of both the defense and the offense to slide by 28 - 23.

In their final game, our little Chiefs scalped the Armada Tigers to a win a well-deserved first place S.T.A. finish with an impressive 12-0 record.

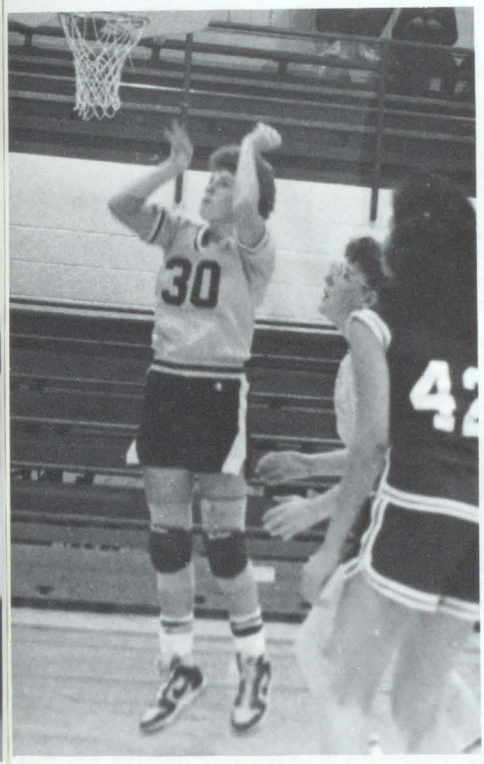

The girls JV basketball team had a great season as well, also earning a first place S.T.A. title.

Leading the girls was sophomore Denise Kutchey with 184 total points. Second top scorer was Oliver Chavez, who contributed 92 points.

These two leading scorers could not have accomplished their totals without great support from their teammates.

Both the Wee Chiefs and the JV had very talented girls playing for them this year. Such talent promises to keep CHS proud in future years.

Capac Says Farewell to Coach Perryman

Chiefs Make It to Regional Finals

In November, when practice first started for the Chiefs varsity basketball team, Coach Perryman told his athletes that he had two goals. One, to win the STA title, and two, to win districts; anything beyond that would be gravy on top.

The Chiefs accomplished those goals. They took the league with a 13-1 record, losing only to Brown City in their first confrontation. The Chiefs met Brown City again in the first game of districts and eliminated the Devils with a 9-point victory. Next, the team faced Almont at the district finals in a crowd-thrilling, come-from-behind win to capture the title for the third straight year.

As district champs, the Chiefs traveled to Frankenmuth, where they opposed the Marlette Red Raiders and captured their first regional semi-final win since Harry Moore was coach. The Chiefs then tried to capture a regional championship (something never done by a Capac basketball team), but were stopped by a quick Flint Academy team, which brought the CHS varsity basketball 14-game winning streak to an end.

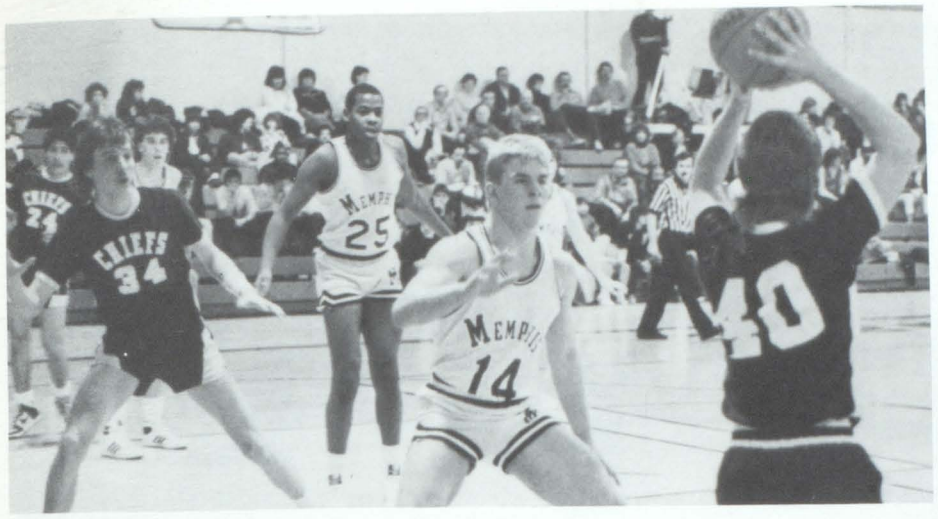

Matt Kaluk and Ron Kaufman led the Chiefs throughout the season, each average around 14 points per game. Also playing important roles in Chief success were Tom Kavanagh and Bryant Kersten, who performed well coming off the bench.

After eight years as coach, Mr. Perryman announced his resignation at the end of the season. Mr. Perryman took the Chiefs to district championships six times during his eight year tenure. He will be sadly missed as coach, but the basketball memories he created will live forever.

Undefeated in League Play

J.V. Boys Tear Up S.T.A.

If anyone had doubts about the future of Capac's varsity basketball team, they can now rest at ease, thanks to the performance of this year's J.V. team. Having a nearly perfect season Capac was unstoppable in league play and lost only two non-league match-ups.

Leading the team in scoring was Eric Mousseau. Following closely were Bernie Kersten and Steve Lewis while Paul Hannon and Ryan Kaufman also threw in a share of the points.

Running the J.V. program was new head coach Mike Craze who certainly proved himself as a fine coach.

A Great Beginning

New ideas and experienced concepts made the freshmen and junior high boys basketball teams a success this year.

New ideas have been introduced by first-year freshmen head coach, Mr. Robert Owen. Under his direction the Chiefs ended the season with a record of 9-5.

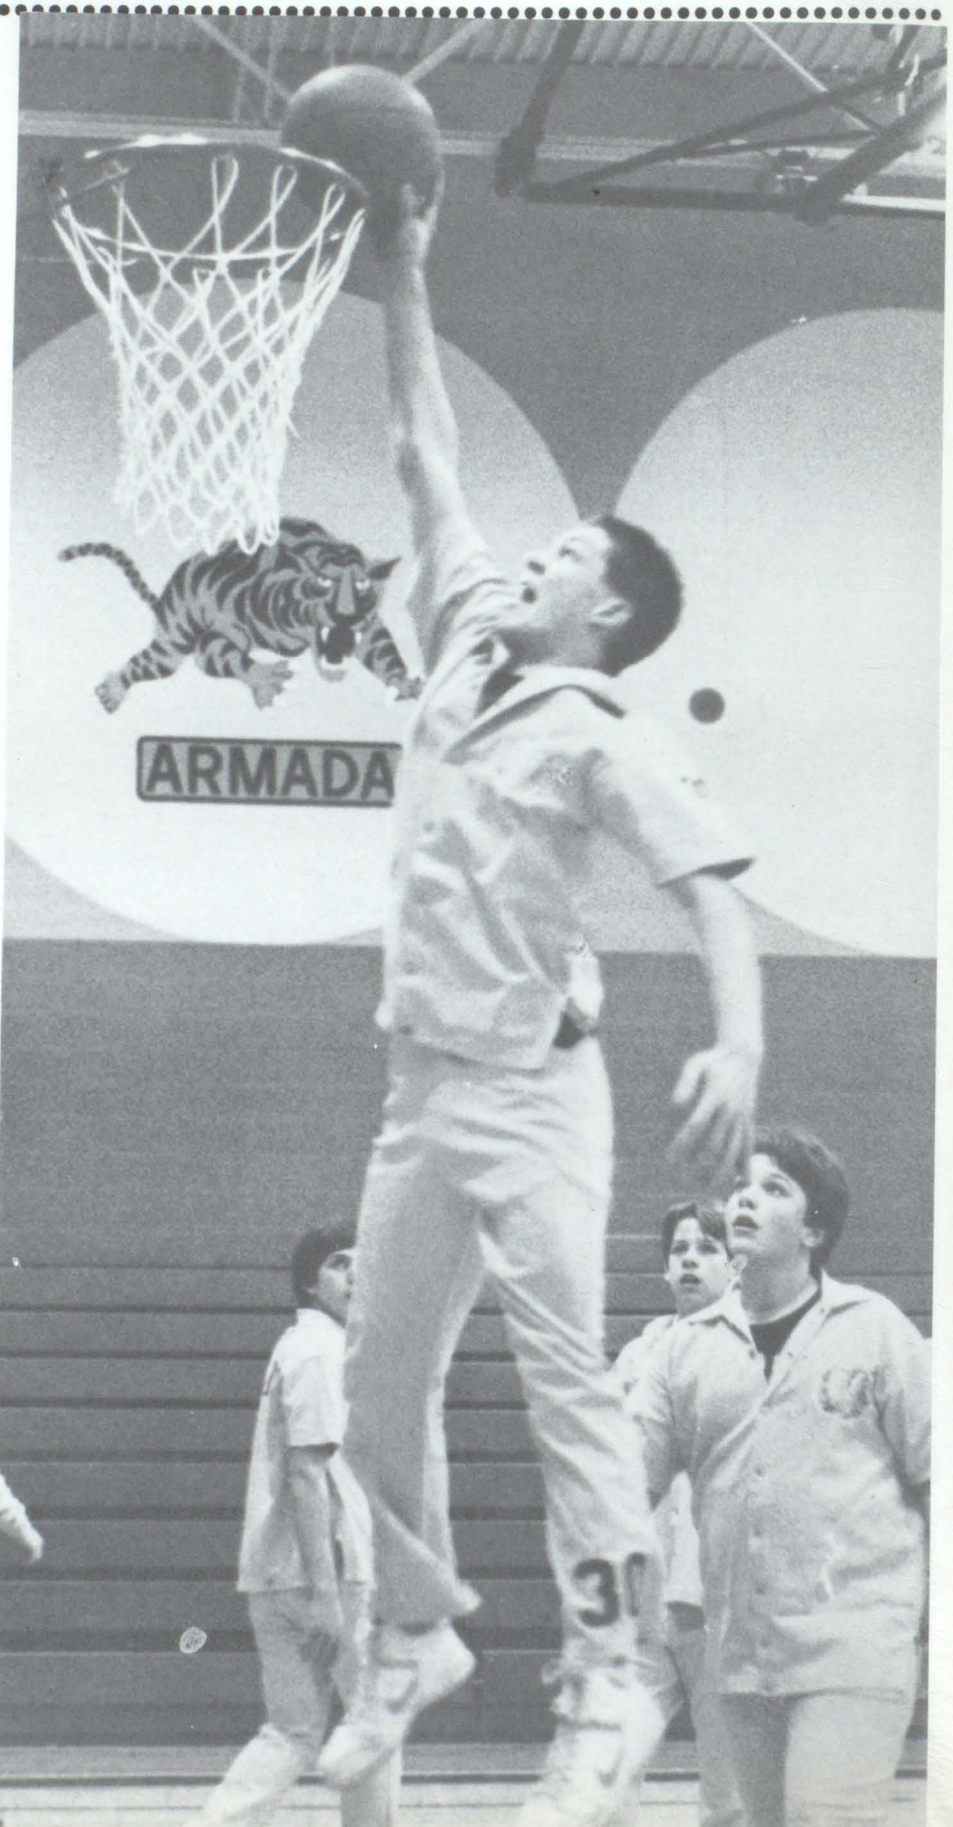

Leading scorer and rebounder for the Chiefs was Mike Rawlins with 15 points and 10 rebounds per game.

Guards Louis Aguinaga and Dion Harvey follow with 7.7 and 7.4 pionts per game respectively. Mike Hofert was second in rebounding with 8.

Experience was provided by Mr. Don Smith who showed his opponents why he has enjoyed more than 200 career junior high victories, with an overall 1987season record of 8-4.

Britt Owen led the Wee Chiefs with 12 points per game, followed by Sean Kriesch with 9. Owen Killingbeck and Doug Rawlins added 7 and 6.

Chiefs Put a Spike in Their Face!

This year's varsity volleyball team held high expectations for the season. They were coached by Miss Redding, who has had previous experience coaching winning volleyball teams at C.H.S.

The Chiefs held their own at the Lakers Invitational, then proceeded to conquer the Memphis Yellow Jackets. Next, the Chiefs defeated the "unbeatable" Dryden Cardinals. Our girls played hard for their well-deserved victory.

The Chiefs held on through the season and finished third in the STA. In district competition, the Chiefs faced Pontiac Catholic, where they were defeated in two games.

The Chiefs will be losing two starting seniors, Elena Chavez and Johnna Pelt. Elena had the most sets this season and was second place for serves. Johnna holds the season record for most serves and hits and is third in sets.

Returning next season are Mary Ann Kaluk, Cheryl Hadacz, Sharon Gott, Gloria Kot, Tracy Jezierski, and Olivia Chavez for what the Chiefs hope to be a winning season.

JV Volleyball: Bumping Into 1987

The 1986-87 JV volleyball team started slowly this year, but came back in the end to a 4-10 league record.

The team did really well at the Capac Invitational when they played against Algonac, Imlay City, North Branch, and St. Clair. Advancing to the semi-finals against Imlay City, they lost, but played hard and had fun.

This year's team consisted of nine players. Eight were first time players, which accounts for their slow start.

After much hard work and everyone giving their best, the girls finished with a decent season.

With a 77% service record, Jeannette Polzin was head server.

Next year looks promising because most players will be returning.

Takedown...2. Nearfall...3. Pin...Pin...Pin...

If you go to a wrestling match you become very familiar with these words. You also become very familiar with that ever-present tension in the air. Knowing that almost every move can be countered, knowing that every second counts, knowing that this is it.

You yell and scream, hoping to cheer your favorite wrestler onto a victory (and hopefully a pin). Do you think it's "mentally demanding" to watch a wrestling match? You bet–but think of how the wrestler feels...

Take any wrestler–Nick Gonzales, Brandon Verellen, Andy Arellano...They'll all tell you what it's like.

Imagine eating salad for every meal for a week straight (if you eat every meal!). Imagine running mile after mile in the dead of winter wearing a plastic jogging suit. Imagine stepping on the scale, making weight by a half of a pound!

Then you've got the match. It's just one on one. You against "him". You've got six minutes to conquer or be defeated.

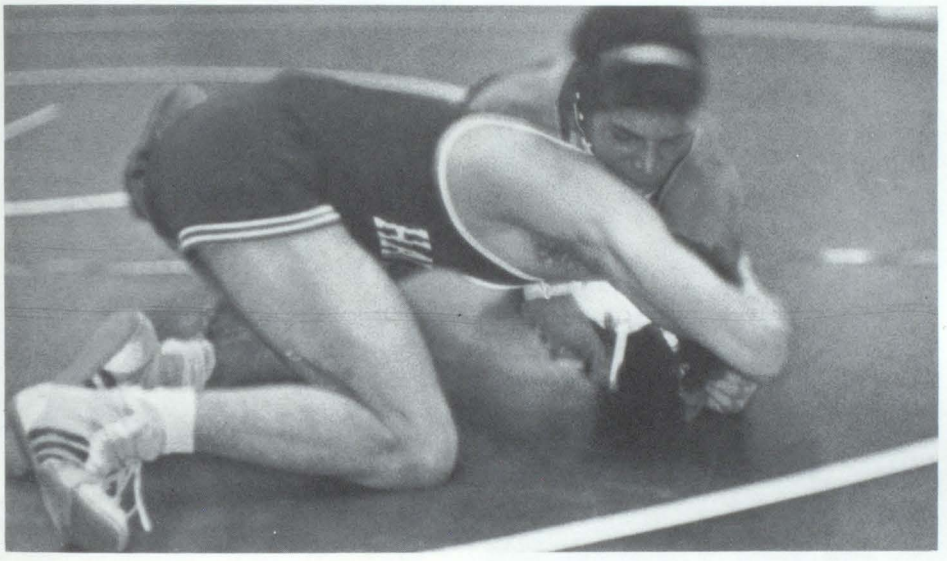

You want to win. You've got to. But not just by points. You want a pin. You want the safety pin for your varsity jacket. You want those six points.

Pressure? Do you think the wrestlers and their fans feel any pressure? Take a wild guess!

The Capac wresting team definitely knows what pressure is. With a 7-6 overall record, they played some pretty tough teams! That wasn't the end for Brandon Verellen; he went on to state competition where he challenged the "best."

Hot Rockin' Spirit

Highlighting an exciting winter season for cheerleaders, a combined varsity-JV squad captured 1st place at the Kingston cheerleading competition in March.

The eighth grade cheerleaders, coached by Ms. Hazel Holzer, enthusiastically backed the Wee Chiefs basketball team, cheering them on to many victories, just short of Coach Don Smith's five-hundredth win.

A familiar face from last year's senior class, former cheerleader Jenni Leonard was this year's new freshmen cheerleading coach. She expected the best performance possible from her squad. The girls' spirited support helped the freshmen basketball team to a 9-5 record.

The varsity and junior varsity squads, coached by CHS alumnus and former cheerleader Mrs. Marilyn Hofert, suffered from conflicts early in the season, but pulled together to provide great support for two fine basketball teams. Much school spirit was raised, climaxing when Capac clinched the STA title in the game against Brown City.

Both varsity and junior varsity squads went to the league cheerleading competition in New Haven. The varsity ended up with a respectable tie for fourth, and the JV squad performed a routine during the competition's entertainment period.

For Members Only

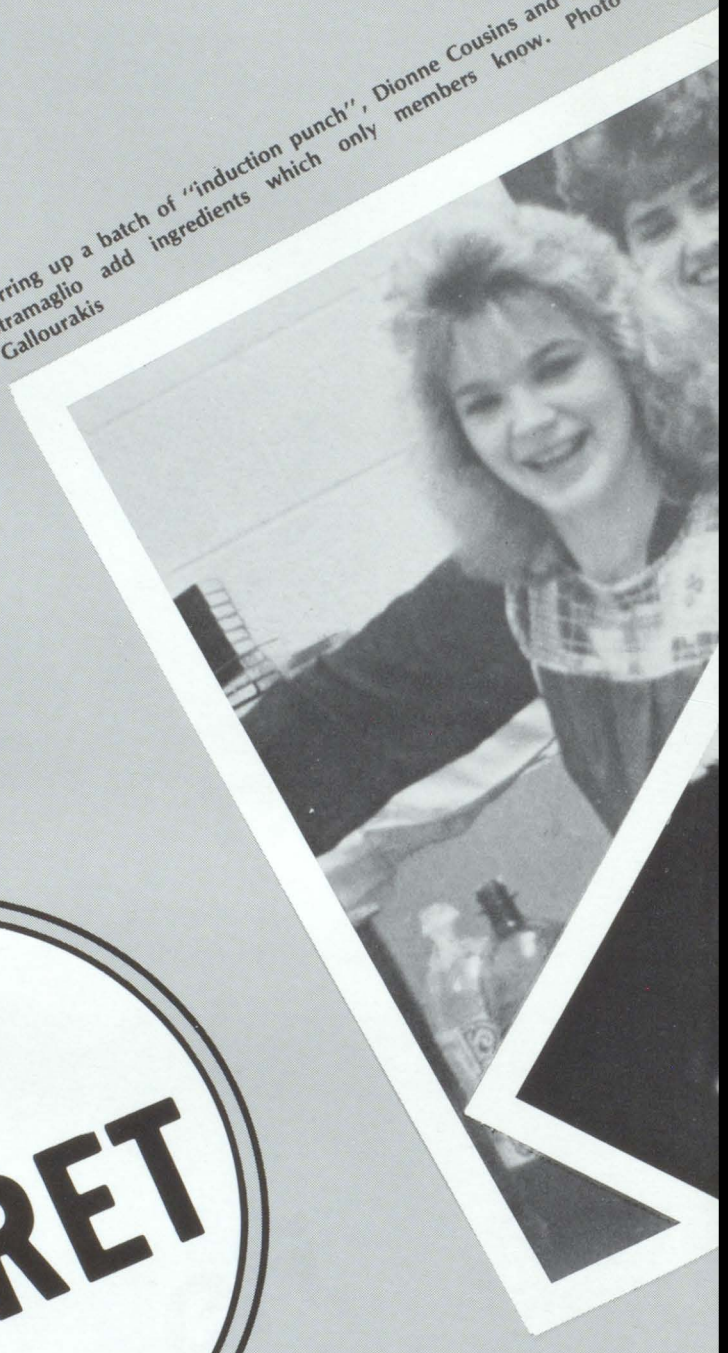

Every organization strives to think of creative projects which can be pursued throughout the year. During the 1986-87 school year, a few clubs found new and innovative activities to occupy their attention.

The FFA took part in a new statewide contest on Greenhand Parliamentary Procedure. The National Honor Society started a tutoring program, took tickets at sporting events, and agreed to put in six service hours per semester in the club's various activities.

Explorer Post #1779 attempted to build a hovercraft, which would hold two passengers and 150 pounds of cargo. The all-new Capac Science Club sold jewelry, raising funds for trips to the Science Fair in Toronto and to Chicago for museum tours.

All of the clubs at CHS were active, achieving many goals throughout this year.

Breaking Up Is Easy to Do

If you have Journalism during second hour, you have one of the most demanding, challenging, and rewarding classes in the CHS curriculum.

This was the first year Chieftain writers had their own class, Advanced Writing, offered sixth hour, taking some of the pressure and chaos out of the second hour class and allowing the Chieftain and Capacian staffs to breathe easier.

Jane Abruzzo, adviser of both publications, commented, "The adoption of Advanced Writing gives Chieftain writers time to learn more about the writing process, experiment with their individual styles, and revise their own stories. Hopefully, readers have noticed the improvement in writing quality. In the past, things were done much too quickly, and too often, mistakes were made."

Even with the new writing class, the overall workload did not become easier. Constantly striving to improve and someday "perfect" both publications, each staff held more responsibility and a greater chance to express their "creative" talents. The result – a knock-out Chieftain and the best yearbook CHS has ever seen!

NHS...Making Great Strides

Being a member of the National Honor Society carries with it much responsibility. It means much more than getting out of class for meetings.

Throughout the course of the year the National Honor Society performed services and participated in many events.

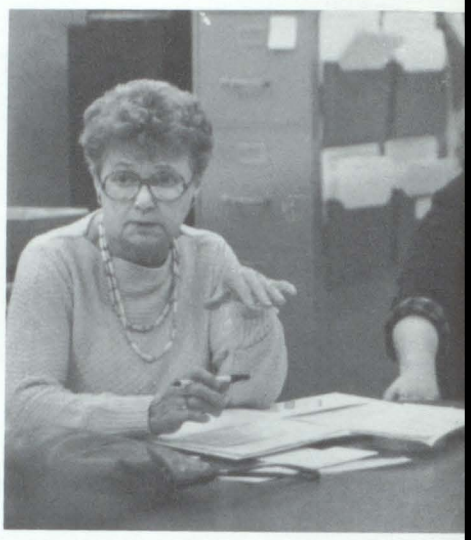

Homecoming was definitely one of the busiest times of the year for NHS members. They blew up approximately 1500 balloons before dressing up as clowns to sell them.

After Homecoming, members began making crafts to take to the nursing homes they visit during the year.

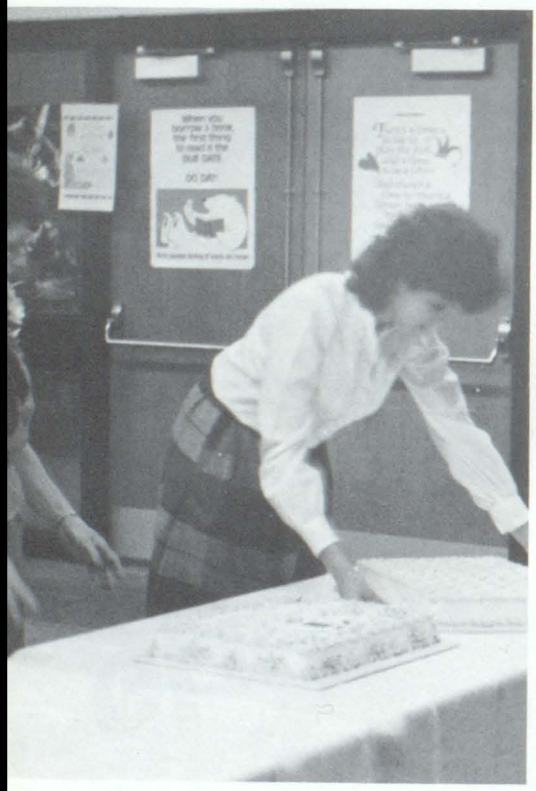

This proved to be a successful year in which much progress has been made. The NHS officers, along with their adviser Marion Fischer, attended an NHS conference held at the University of Michigan – Flint. The conference provided them with some new ideas for their chapter. As a result, the Capac NHS began a tutoring program and a Big Brother – Big Sister program for new students.

In addition, the NHS began taking tickets for sporting events, and attending Capac Village Council, School Board, and Chamber of Commerce meetings.

To Learn is to Grow...

To honor rural oportunities and responsibilities and to develop those qualities which a future farmer should possess–these are the continuing goals of the Future Farmers of America. The Capac High School FFA chapter has been strong in number and performance for 40 years, and 1986-87 was no exception.

The year began with the land judging contest. For the last six years FFAers have had to test their soil judging skills during poor weather, and this year, true to tradition, a fine drizzle greeted the participants.

In November, both formal and informal initiation ceremonies helped welcome new inductees to the FFA. Did you know that it took the new members, on the average, two hours to sell one roll of toilet paper for a penny a sheet?

Later in the year, certain members participated in Ag Skills and Leadership contests, which this year included a new event: Greenhand Parliamentary Procedure. Greenhands who participated learned a lot about running a meeting.

Competitions continued at the FFA state convention in the spring. Contestants receiving first place gold awards at regional Ag Skills and Leadership Contests competed at the state level.

To end the year a new officer team was chosen. The 1986-87 officers were glad to see that their replacements had as much fun as they did showing off farm products and animals at the spring Food for America.

The 1986-87 FFA officers were Dana Parlin, President; Teri Behnke, Vice President; Wendy Monarch, Secretary; Michelle Burlison, Treasurer; Darrin Fennell, Reporter; and Debbie Aleck, Sentinel.

Students Pursue Job Interests

The Skill Center, a place where juniors and seniors from St. Clair County can go for the second half of their school day, provides a popular form of vocational education for CHS students.

In 1986-87 there were twelve more CHS students attending the Skill Center than in the previous year. This increase in enrollment spurred school officials to divide commuting students between two buses.

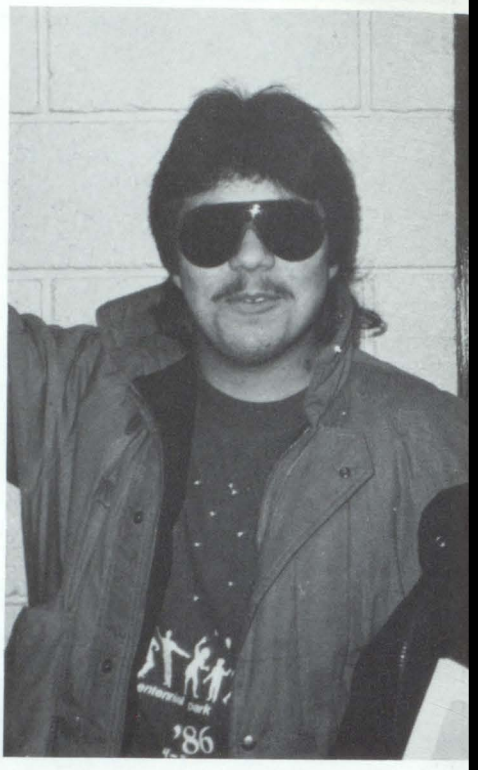

The most popular program this year was the food service program; there were thirteen CHS students attending this program. Last year, machine tool and computer-aided drafting were two programs not attended by Capac students. This year, however, interest in these programs propelled at least a half dozen CHS juniors and seniors to enroll.

When a number of Skill Center students were asked what they enjoyed most about the program, the popular reply was Co-op. Co-op is on-the-job training. This is a good experience, because not only do they learn from books, they also get in on some of the real job action. Rhonda Mowery is one Skill Center student involved in the Co-op program. She is presently employed at Paisano's restaurant in Capac. Rhonda says she enjoys the program because she no longer has to work nights.

They Want it When?

"Traveling down halls trudged by the unwilling. And finding the impossible for the impatient."This is the unspoken creed of the most responsible, respected students at CHS - the aides.

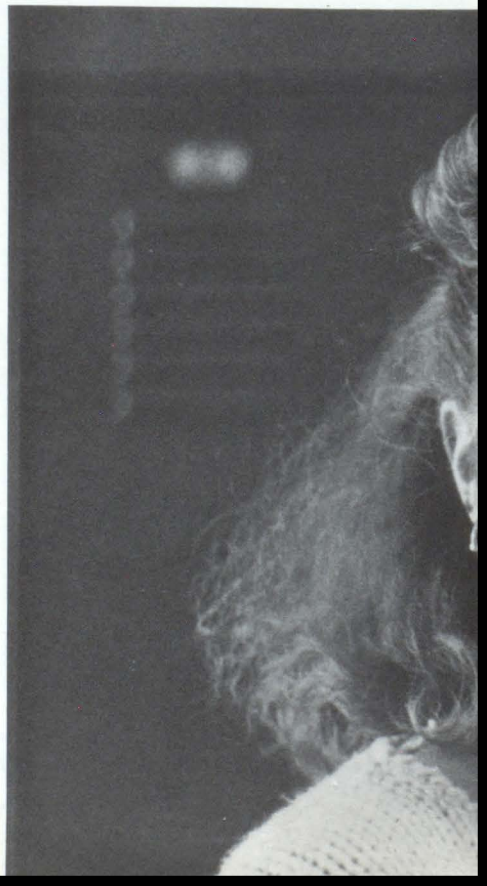

"He's wanted in the office," is a common explanation brave office aides must make after interrupting a class. The teacher sighs, shakes his head, and the aide is off to brighten another teacher's day.

Library aides are a different breed, and may have the toughest job. Wouldn't you think it is a little unusual to make-up cards for books that don't even leave the library? Senior Dawn Westfall thinks so!

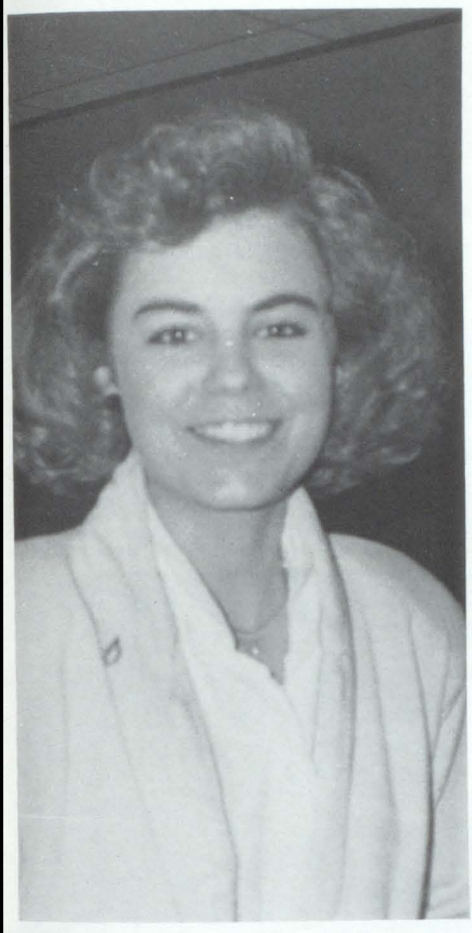

Being a teacher aide is also one of the hardest jobs. You must be prepared to do anything, or almost anything!

Fortunately, though, CHS has a faculty of appreciative and understanding men and women who really treat their aides great -well, pretty great.

Making the Grade -- Outside of Class

Some clubs at CHS have "special requirements". If you qualify, you can add new dimensions to your high school life!

Do you have a varsity "C"? If you do, then you could be a member of the Varsity Club! (If you don't miss more than two meetings, that is.)

Under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Herman, the members sponsored a breakfast for ten wrestling teams who participated in the Capac Invitational.

This year's Varsity Club officers were Kevin Hofert, President; Greg Parker, Vice-President; Teri Behnke, Secretary; Lisa Behnke, Treasurer, Nancy Herman, Sergeant at Arms.

Are you a science-minded type of person? Well, then, you could be a member of the Science Club! (if you've taken Chemistry, Chem. II, or Physics)

Being adventurous, the members planned a field trip to Toronto. They visited the Science Center, the C.N. Tower, and I bet they went to Mickey D's too!

In order to fund their educational "outings", they sold tons of jewelry to unsuspecting freshmen and sophomores. All profits above and beyond the cost of the trip helped to replace broken beakers and exploded test tubes.

Keeping things on track were: Fred Hunt, Supervisor; Paul Hannon, President; Gordon Palmieri, Vice-President; Carrie McClelland, Secretary; Dave Henig, Treasurer.

The Ham Radio Club, composed of only four members, was a bit less active this year.

Specializing in radio communications and technology, this unique club spent time communicating with other radio operators all over the country.

Our Explorers, formerly known as Exaltens, worked together on a major project called a hovercraft. Just started early this year, the craft went through a long process of planning.

According to a group member, the craft is like an automobile -minus the tires - which travels no further off the ground than six inches.

What keeps the craft in the air? A huge fan!

This major project, headed by Mr. Bartling, will probably take a few years before it is completely finished.

Forty-four high school students and seventeen eighth-grade students walked into room 205 each morning this year and began to warm-up with their instruments.

Fall classes were conducted outside on the football field to practice marching skills. The Capac Marching Band was invited to show off their skills at Michigan State University's Band Day. Only 26 bands were asked to participate in this exciting event..

November saw the end of the marching season and the beginning of the concert season. The annual CHS Christmas concert was the first event of a busy schedule.

Next, the hectic search began for just the right music to be played at the District and State competitions. This music was also performed at the spring concerts along with the band's favorite pop hits.

The 1987 Capacian was supported by $3,405 in business ad sales and $240 in senior ad sales. Without this funding the yearbook staff would not be able to maintain its $10,000 budget for the yearbook.

Each yearbook staff member was required to make contacts with seven businesses to sell ads.

Marion's Studio, which provides a great deal of assistance to the yearbook in photography and related supplies, received a free $100 ad. Any other business who bought a full page ad received a free yearbook.

Any staff member who sold $100 of new ads or a total of 10 ads also received a free book.

The staff takes this opportunity to thank all our patrons. Without them, this publication wouldn't be possible.

Frank,

Your wit and strong determination will take you to the top. Know that your family has been and will always be behind you all the way. We are very proud of you and all your accomplishments.

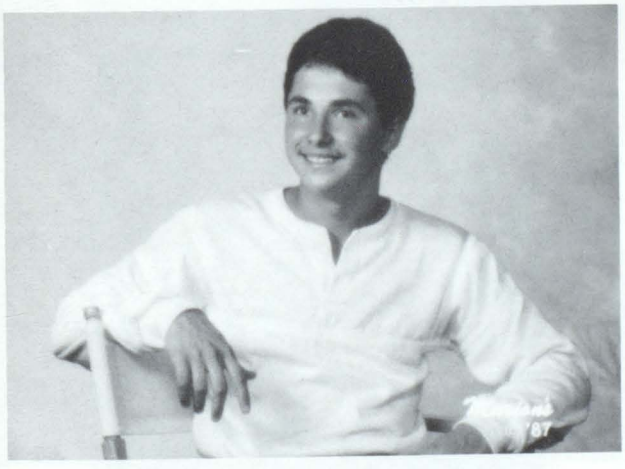

Love,
Dad, Mom, Tony, Maria & Anita

Dearest Tina,

We congratulate you! You are a wonderful daughter. You have always been there when any of us needed you. We can always depend on you. You are a very kind, thoughtful, loving and beautiful young lady. We are proud to have you for a daughter and a sister. Whatever you want the future to bring, will be yours. There is nothing you can't attain, if you just reach out for it!

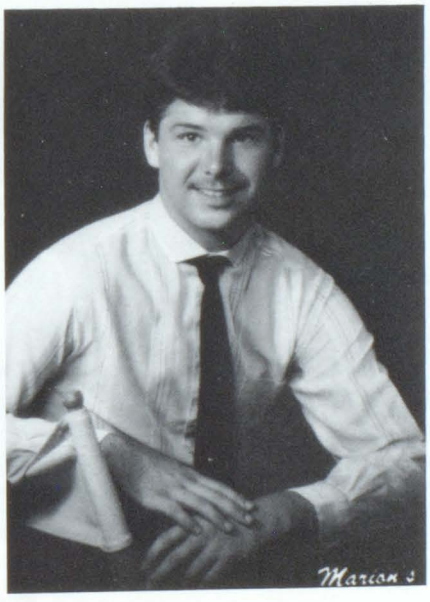

All our love forever,
Dad, Mom and Debby

Dear David,

In Psalm 127:3, you'll read children are a gift from God and truly you and Laurie have been our greatest gift. Your laughter and presence have been the best of our home. I've seen nothing grow so fast as you and we're proud of you. We love you very much. God loves you even more.

God Bless You,
Mom, Dad, Laurie

Thomas C. Seros,

May your love for God and man be in your heart forever. May the knowledge you have learned from your experiences lead you on the right path. May the tenderness you have inside shine throughout your life. And may, with each passing day, you always remember that we love you very much and will stand beside you all the way.

From your family, friends,
and all who love you

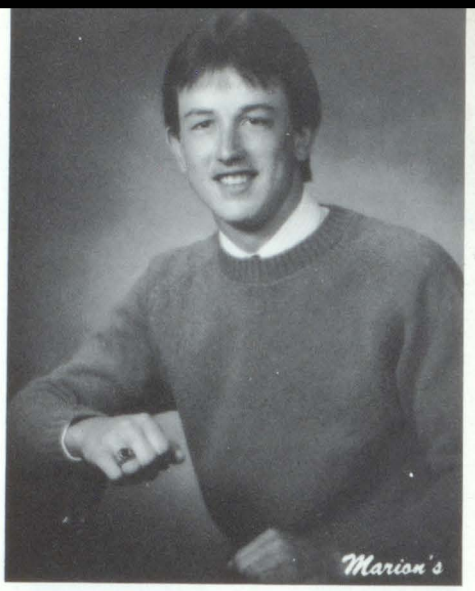

Jim,

You are very special to all of us, and we know you will go far. We love you and are so proud of you. And know in your heart, your dad would have been very proud too.

Congratulations and best wishes.

Your family,

Mom, Brian, Mark, Jen, Rod, Amber, Gram, and Gramp

Dear Rick,

Congratulations. We love you, are so proud of you and are delighted you are our son.

Remember always to "Trust in the Lord". (Proverbs 3:5-6)

Love,

Dad, Mom, and Carey

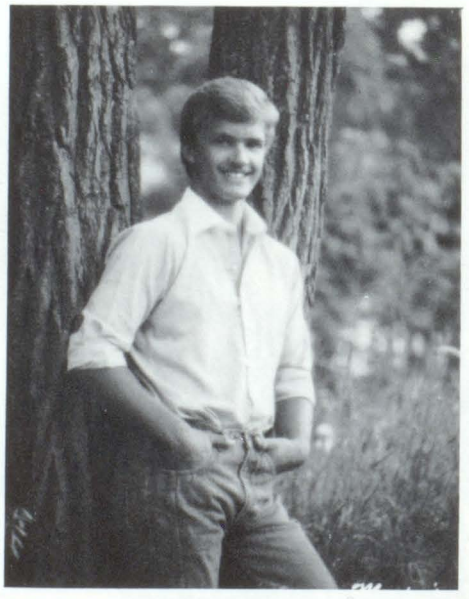

Dear Francine,

May life hold as much happiness in the future for you as you have given us in the past.

Love,

Mom, Dad, Jim, Therese, Pat, Gerard, and Paul

Daniel,

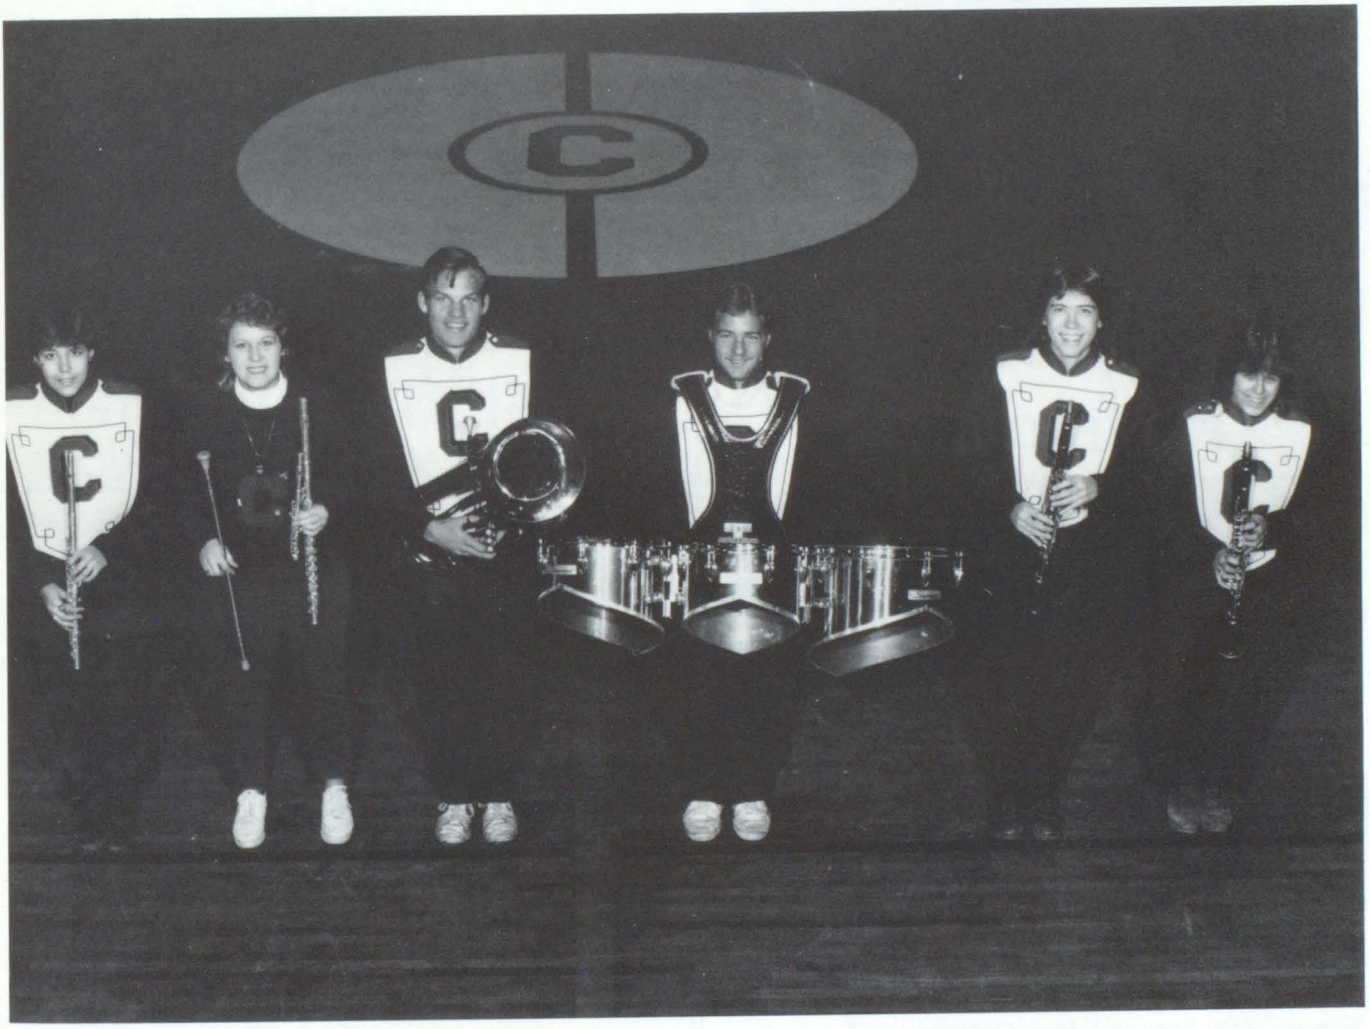

We wish you the best years to come and love you very much.

Happy Hunting!

Love,

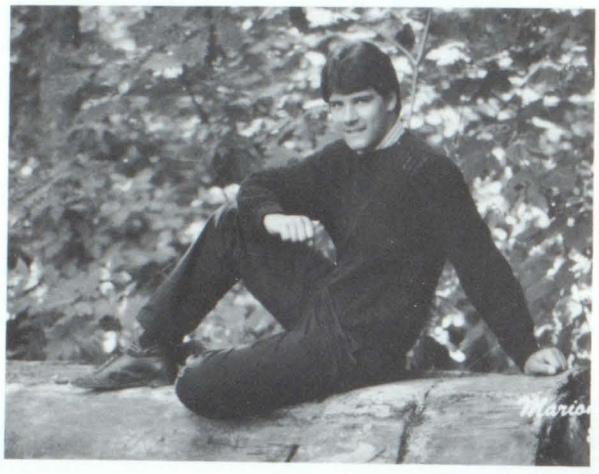

Dad, Mom, Dave, Deena, and Darin

Congratulations

Dearest Christopher,

Strive to strengthen and preserve your faith. Use your knowledge and judgment to make your life a worthy example for other men to follow. Remember, your hopes and dreams are only a step away. Never be afraid to take that first step. May God's word guide your life. We are proud of you and are always here for you.

Love Always,

Committed Runners Compete Year Round

Two freshmen running enthusiasts, Dawn and Jennifer Adams, use their athletic talents for cross country, spring track, and indoor track. Photo--Reichert

Freshmen sisters Dawn and Jennifer Adams have a lot more in common than just being twins. Both are talented and dedicated runners whose athletic efforts span the entire school year.

Traditionally, running is considered a fall or spring sport, when athletes compete in cross country and track. Jennifer and Dawn participated in both of these sports, but they also highlighted the winter months with running activity.

One little-known sport available to Capac athletes is indoor track. Since no area high schools have indoor track facilities, none have actual teams. However, individual athletes are able to compete against each other in meets sponsored by colleges.

Capac track coach Mike Larzelere took Jennifer and Dawn to compete at Macomb Community College this year. Jennifer ran the one mile and Dawn ran the 800. Both thought it was fun and will continue to participate in future years.

"The program will definitely be bigger next year," says Coach Larzelere. Indoor track meets feature all the same events as outdoor track, including high jump, long jump, shot put, and various running competitions. Sometimes slight variations from the outdoor versions are made to accommodate the indoor facilities. Ribbons are awarded to athletes who place in their events.

Seniors Invade Florida

Florida will never be the same after the attack of 53 sun-hungry seniors!

After arriving at Metro Airport, the seniors were split into two groups. Twelve fortunate seniors left for Florida immediately and enjoyed themselves in the southern-tip state while the remaining 41 experienced a 10½ hour delay.

The groups were finally reunited the next morning in Orlando.

Highlighting the trip were journeys to the Magic Kingdom, Wet -n- Wild, Busch Gardens, and King Henry's Feast.

Some incidents stand out from the rest, such as the crisis at Wet -n- Wild, where Pat Schrader had some difficulties in the wave pool and was saved by the lifeguard.

Marlo Klug and Colleen Robbins will surely never forget Busch Gardens after pushing their dear friend Tami Behnke around the park in a wheelchair.

The final event, King Henry's Feast, was a favorite for many of the seniors.

Different Customs, Same Feelings

Cramming for tests is one thing, Nicole Miller, but don't cram Paloma Ospino into the locker! Photo--Smith

Different country, people, customs, language, season, and school. That's the way I found things when I arrived in Michigan on January 10, all different.

But I should say I like the difference between your country and mine, Panama. I like the way people are, your personality, the way you handle problems and ideas; I have learned a lot from you and your customs and this has been a great experience.

By attending CHS everyday, I have understood the difference between you Americans and we Panamanians. This has helped me to grow as a person and think about things deeply. You are so outgoing; nobody cares too much about the way you dress, your thoughts, etc. In Panama we do, and sometimes it's so disgusting. That's the worst side of our personality, but we are very kind and nice people who work hard for a living and give love all over.

–Paloma Ospino

Colophon

The Capacian was printed by Inter-Collegiate Press, Inc. in Shawnee Mission, Kansas. Typesetting was completed by students at the Lapeer County Vo-Tech Center, under the supervision of Miss Karen Kiley. Headlines and captions are set in various point sizes of Oracle Bold II type . Body copy is set in 10 point Oracle Italic.

Senior portrait photos and team or organization group shots were primarily taken by Marion's Studio of Brown City, along with a few select candids. World Wide Photos, Inc. of New York, provided selected Associated Press photos for pages 4-5 and 6-7. All other photography was student produced.

Acknowledgments

Special thanks to Karen for supervising the completion of our copy orders quickly and accurately, and to Jack, Jerry, Marge and Ron at Marion's for their invaluable help with our photographic needs. Without their professional assistance our book would not exhibit its current standard of quality.

The constant pressure of working under a deadline can have "dizzying" effects on some people, and the yearbook staff knows just what that's like.
